PROSPECT

Superintendent
Mr. Harold Schlichenmeyer

The main goal of the Board of Education was to provide the best possible education for all students. Mr. John Haas, President; Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, Secretary; and the members of the Board were concerned with finances, building, and quality of education. Responsibilities included the new Wheeling High School and plans for a fifth school in Elk Grove. Last fall district administrators moved from cramped quarters to the new administration building on Prospect's campus. In a new office, Mr. Harold Schlichenmeyer, Superintendent, continued to act as contact between the faculty and the Board of Education and as chief co-ordinator of District 214 activities. Dr. Edward Gilbert, Assistant Superintendent, handled hiring of personnel and extending of school services. Mr. Francis Coleman, Director of Business Services, dealt with district financial matters.

Assistant Principal for Instructional Services
Mr. Donald Thomas

Prospect students and faculty remembered another successful year under the guidance and leadership of Principal Mr. Alvin Kulieke. Mr. Kulieke helped to co-ordinate student and faculty activities, both educational and extracurricular. The behavior of students, the maintenance of the building, and the purchasing of supplies, as well as the activities of students, were the responsibilities of Mr. Louis Schultz, Assistant Principal for Administrative Services.

Mr. Donald Thomas, Assistant Principal for Instructional Services, provided leadership and supervision in Prospect's educational program this year. As the Director of Student Activities, Mr. James Kunnen aided the student body in a successful year. His responsibilities included scheduling of organizational activities, providing for adequate faculty supervision at these activities, directing of the student council, and supervising of student ticket sales.

The attendance and administrative offices were managed this past year by seventeen secretaries, responsible for operating the switchboard, keeping student attendance records, and managing registration. Two secretaries in the library kept records in order and helped students find necessary information sources and reading materials.

The hectic duties of the counseling and attendance offices were relieved by office guides. These girls helped in office 114 by typing, filing, and taking new students on tours of the school. They also provided students with information about the vocational files and the college catalogues. Counselors found office guides willing to answer the always ringing phones and to deliver messages to students in study hall. Efficiency and knowledge of school policy enabled Prospect's secretaries and office guides to keep the administration operating smoothly.

ENRICHMENT BY BOOKS

Students occupied in their favorite pastime—studying.

This year Miss Fannie Bartmann and Mrs. Rose Sigborn served Prospect High School as librarians. Aided by the clerks, Mrs. Miriam Platell and Mrs. Jessie Sbarbaro, they supplied students with guidance in library research assignments. A program of library orientation for incoming freshmen was planned as part of the first semester frosh English course. Fiction and non-fiction books, reference sources, tapes, records, college and vocational pamphlets, and both recent and back copies of magazines and newspapers were available to the interested student. The conference rooms for faculty and students provided opportunities for discussion with immediate access to library facilities. Prospect can be proud of the wealth of information stored in 14,200 volumes.

SERVING THE KNIGHTS

Social Counselor
Mr. D'Agata

Special services of speech and social counseling helped to complete a well-rounded counseling program at Prospect. Miss Babcock, the speech correctionist, utilized records and tape-recorded sounds to improve and correct the pronunciation of many students. Prospect's new social counselor, Mr. D'Agata, encouraged students to discuss social and family problems with him. Through mutual confidence workable solutions to these problems were more successful. Special counseling services were offered to all students.

School Nurse
Mrs. Allen

Health Service was again functioning this year under the direction of Mrs. E. Allen, R.N. The service handled all first aid needs for students and faculty, checked medical records, administered visual and auditory examinations, and recorded special instructions from doctors regarding the health of certain students. Health Service taught the Red Cross child care course to junior and senior Home Economics students. Assisting Mrs. Allen in the Health Service room were several girls interested in nursing.

Prospect's maintenance crew capably accepted the responsibility of maintaining cleanliness and orderliness of the school building and the surrounding landscaping. Supervised by Mr. Bob Potts, the custodians and their ten student aids worked in three shifts around the clock to keep Prospect clean and beautiful. Their daily responsibilities also included the safety and welfare of students, faculty members, and administrators. Therefore, custodians were obliged to keep equipment in perfect working condition at all times.

Appeasing the hearty appetites of Prospect students was a challenge to twenty on the kitchen staff. Under the direction of Miss Handlin, the staff planned, prepared, and served attractive, well-balanced meals four lunch periods each day. Cooks were also responsible for operating the milk line and the always popular candy line. A clean-up crew collected dishes, trays and silverware, dusted each table in the cafeteria, and sterilized all cooking and eating utensils in accordance with the state and national health laws.

LANGUAGE: THE KEY TO

Developmental reading machines aided interested students.

Prospect offered stimulating study in all levels of English. Mr. Donald Fyfe once again headed the English Department. Under his direction each level prepared students for future years of study. Freshmen received a general background in grammar skills and literature. Sophomores specialized with a semester of speech and a semester of grammar and literature. Concentration in specific areas of American literature and expository writing was the goal of junior classes. Seniors studied world literature and wrote an essay each week in preparation for college writing courses. Honors classes gave the above-average student an opportunity to learn more at a faster pace. A special emphasis was placed on reading good literature and writing documented essays. The developmental reading lab, directed by Mrs. Stern, encouraged students to voluntarily come in during a study hall or eighth hour and advance their reading rate and comprehension.

UNDERSTANDING OTHERS

Oral participation was a 'must' in all foreign language classes.

"Something old, something new, something borrowed . . ." This well-known saying appropriately described the Language Department at Prospect. Miss Donna Volz once again headed the department in another successful year of promoting increased interest in the language clubs and encouraging continually high standards of achievement in language classes. Two Spanish students enjoyed new experiences and gained practical knowledge by participating in the program of summer exchange with South American countries. Borrowing a teaching method from the Spanish section of the department, the audio-lingual approach to teaching a foreign language was extended to French classes. Next year beginning German students will be instructed by this new method. The department anticipates future years when Prospect may have four individual language labs to facilitate the need of fluent speech in language.

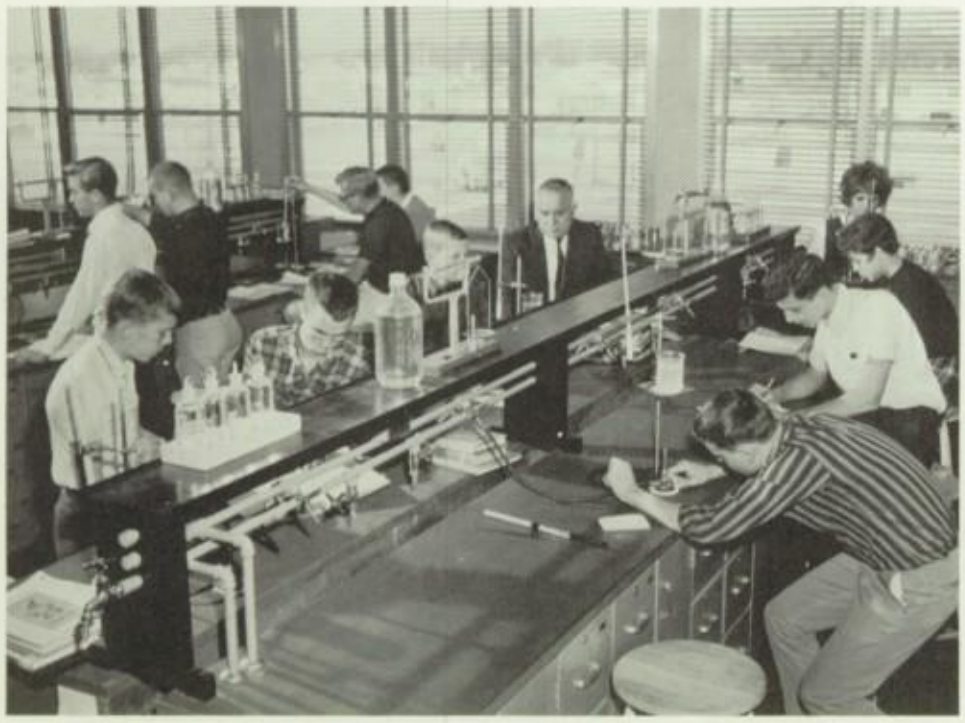
MATH AND SCIENCE



Lab sessions provided many opportunities for the amateur chemist.

With the increasing emphasis on scientific advancement in modern society, Prospect's Science Department instigated a new approach in the high school science curriculum. Last year's goal of increased laboratory work was extended with newly installed laboratory equipment in the physical and natural science rooms. Under the guidance of the department chairman, Mr. Robert Kemman, the teaching curriculum was expanded to include courses concerning outer space. The BSCS biology laboratory course for freshmen, which dealt with the evolutionary aspects of biology, and the PSSC, a revised program for accelerated physics, were continued. Students were offered chemistry, physics, earth science, and college preparatory courses in botany and zoology, as well as biology and physical science, the two science course units required for graduation. Finally, many new books were purchased for the Science Library to supplement classroom texts, science lectures, laboratory sessions, and visual aids.

Experiments sometimes yielded surprising results.

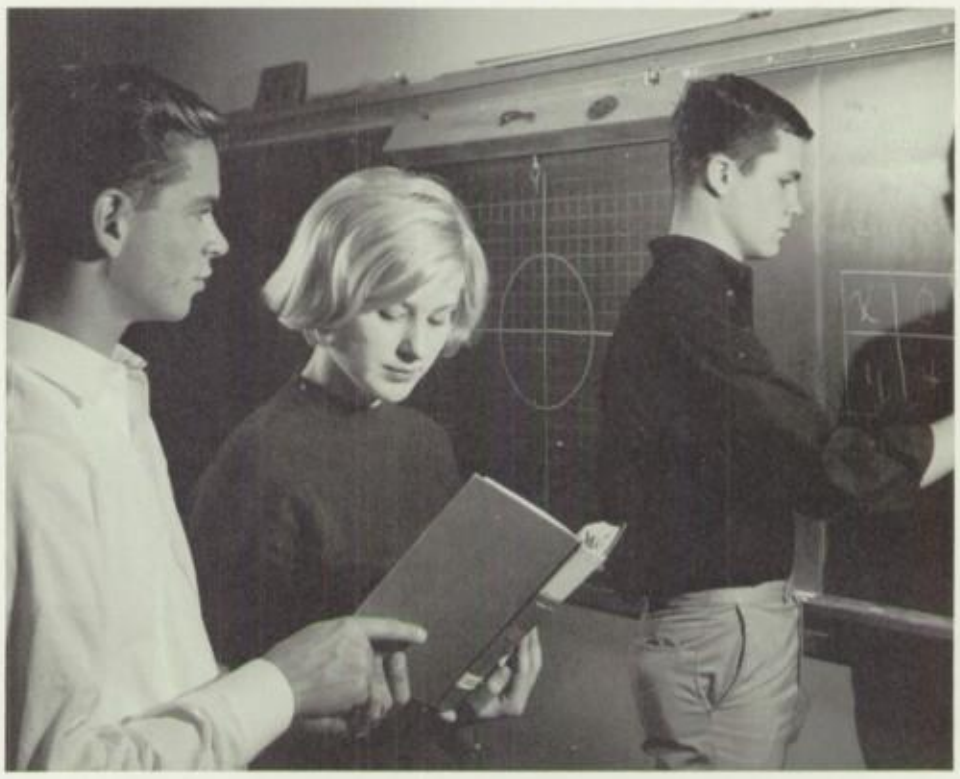
COOPERATED TO EDUCATE

This year the Mathematics Department, headed by Mr. Edward Spacapan, introduced new teaching methods and materials to students. The science of mathematics contained the major subject divisions of arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Modern Algebra I, the experimental study of new number systems, was offered to the freshmen. Sophomores studied the more advanced mathematics of modern geometry in a course covering plane geometry, solid geometry, and co-ordinated geometry. Juniors continued to examine the basic logic of algebra in Advanced Algebra I. The teachers placed a special emphasis on the ability to visualize problems through graphing. Graphing also aided in visualizing the functions of trigonometry. Finally, seniors who participated in the field of mathematics studied Advanced Algebra II, a modern approach to beginning college algebra. In order to complete four years of high school math, accelerated seniors specialized in analytic geometry and calculus.



Algebra II students gained understanding through graphs.

Freshmen learned fundamentals of algebra by trial and error.

THE POLITICS

In the ever-changing world of today it is important that America's future leaders have a knowledge and understanding of government and the relationship of government to other nations of the world. The goal of the Social Science Department, headed by Miss Volz, was to stimulate interest, knowledge, and appreciation of the social, economic, and political aspects of the world. Discussions about the effects of past life on present situations increased the meaning of studies in world history, American history, world geography, sociology, and current history. Junior classes stressed America's eventful past and rapid growth to the present. Through lectures, discussions, newspapers, and national magazines, students in all courses gained an appreciation of our cultural heritage and a greater understanding of the many people who have contributed to this heritage.

OF BUSINESS

This past year the Business Education Department, managed by Mr. Louis Audi, experienced a transformation. The process of a two-year change in department curriculum was begun. First, the general business course was opened only to freshmen and sophomores. Office occupancy and actual working experience were gained through special educational facilities. Courses in business law, consumer problems, shorthand, bookkeeping, typing, and business English were offered to all interested students. In addition, the notehand and social typing course prepared seniors for extensive written work in many college lecture courses. Some students supplemented their regular business education classes by working in the school book store. In the future the business department plans to have a data processing study which would teach skills involved in operating IBM machines.

Learning to keep their eyes on the book proved difficult.

The study of shorthand was tricky at first.

Keen perception was necessary to translate what was seen.

The Art Department offered Prospect's art students a wide selection of interesting studies. The first and second year, students learned and worked with the fundamental art forms; the third and fourth year students had a workshop in which they were permitted to concentrate individually, pursuing particular interests. Regular classes in fine arts appreciation, a study of history and interpretation of art and music, and general art were offered to supplement concentrated study in sculpture, ceramics, textiles, drawing, illustrating, silk screening, painting, printing, jewelry making, and wood working. During the year many of the art students submitted projects to be judged in competition. Successful contestants were awarded their prizes at the spring award's assembly. In addition the Art Department, under the direction of Mr. Keith Weiss and Mr. John Knudsen, prepared publicity posters, scenery, and programs for many school functions and activities during the year.

Any resemblance?

While this might look like modern art, it was only the palette.

FINE ARTS CLASSROOMS

Music students found themselves lost in the sound of music.

In the 1964 school year, as in past years, Prospect's Music Department strove to improve the vocal and instrumental music programs. To help reach this goal Prospect hired two new teachers. Aiding Mr. Sterling Mische in the vocal department was Mr. Terry Blackley. The first three periods of the day were devoted to organizing and enriching the Freshman Girl's Chorus, Girl's Chorus, Mixed Chorus, and Choir. Each of these groups performed for Parent's Night in October, the Christmas and Spring Concerts, and the District 214 Music Festival. The instrumental music department was under the new directorship of Mr. Howard Sandlund, assisted by Mr. Blackley. With the help of some talented seniors including drum major, Scott Nyquist, the band executed precision half-time shows at the football games, thus furthering the high reputation of Prospect's Marching Band. A new pep band was organized to accompany the student body with the school song at pep assemblies.

Mr. Mische exhibited spirit in his music instruction.

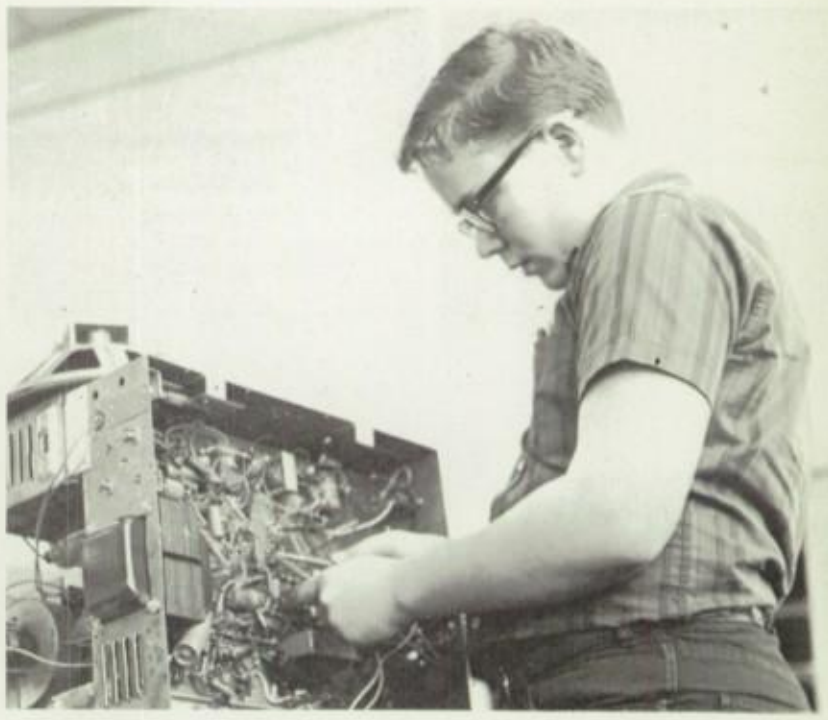
MRS. GLORIA J. LORENZ. Future Homemakers of America. Stout State College, B.S.

The primary aim of the Home Economics Department, under the guidance of Mrs. Breiding and Mrs. Lorenz, was to provide knowledge in many fields of domestic arts. Homemaking I and II introduced basic skills of cooking and sewing. From this basic training students were afforded the opportunity to choose a career in the homemaking field. Home Economics emphasized the skills of cooking, sewing, wise purchasing, caring for children, getting along with people, and budgeting of time money and energy. It also taught the importance of citizenship and of actively participating in social and civic affairs. Because of the many fields in Home Economics, students had an opportunity to prepare for future homemaking problems in courses of specialized study.

Object: to produce good cooks.

The students were instructed that only the best cloth would make the best clothes.

Welding metal with a blowtorch required steady hands.



Complex wire network provided a challenge.

SKILLS FOR THE FUTURE

Electricity, metal work, mechanical drawing, and wood-working were basic course divisions of Prospect's Industrial Arts Department. The Department, under the supervision of Mr. William Laymon, offered more detailed courses for specialization. Mechanical drawing included studies in machine and architectural drawing for the advanced students. Cabinet making and machine wood-working introduced specialized sub-divisions of the general wood-working course. Electricians studied the arts of cooking in the traditional exchange of classes with the Home Economics Department. The Diversified Occupations Club, part of the Industrial Arts Department provided students with the opportunity to utilize their skills.

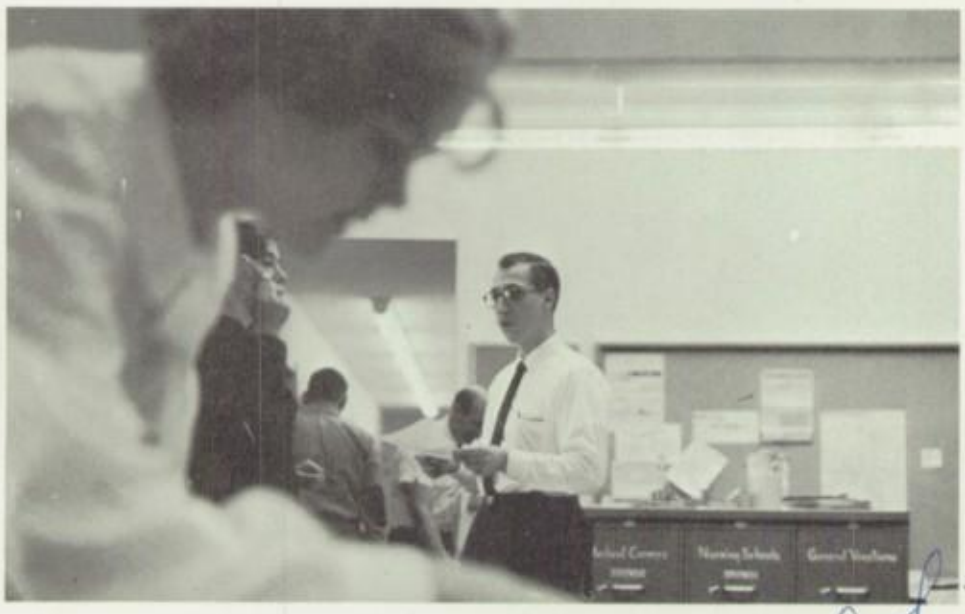
Knowing the location of the steering wheel was vital in driver's training. •

Operating under the premise that excellent physical condition is a basic requisite for not only peak mental efficiency but also a feeling of general well being, Prospect's Physical Education Department strove to provide well-balanced programs of physical activity designed to instill both individual and team skills. Thus, Prospect students regularly found themselves engaged in some form of athletic endeavor either in the gym or, weather permitting, outdoors on the playing field. In addition to the regular physical education program, the department also administered classes in social dancing to freshmen, driver training to sophomores, and first aid and square dancing to seniors. As in past years, the P. E. program provided interest and activity for all.

First Aid classes could frequently observe the real thing.

Archery resulted in many a sore forearm.

ADVISING THE KNIGHTS



Whatever the problem, Mr. Feiereisel was always on hand.

Prospect's Counseling Department experienced some major changes in structure and function this past year. Students were assigned to counselors on an alphabetical basis rather than by high school class. A new filing system made student aid more rapid and accurate. Returning to Prospect as the college counselor, Mr. Lindemann recommended useful college catalogs, vocational pamphlets, personal visits with representatives, and the library's College Viewer, a combination phonograph-projector. A senior study hall discussion group was founded. The department chairman, Mr. Feiereisel, guided Prospect's ever-increasing staff of competent counselors in the service of helping students solve their problems.

Better communication between the student body and the faculty was the main objective of the Student Council this year. The 1964-1965 executive board attempted to increase the value of Student Council as a student governing body. The faculty sponsors were Mr. Kunnen, Director of Student Activities, and Mrs. Stewart. Student Council opened Prospect's social year with the All Knight Party and later helped Varsity Club with Knightimes festivities and assemblies. The members planned, organized, and directed an excellent Variety Show. Undertaking the project of a Green Stamp drive started by the Class of 1964, the Council hoped to purchase a station wagon for the school. Council members continued to support several foster children and to welcome our foreign exchange students. Student exchange days with other schools were increased to encourage inter-school co-operation and friendship.

EXCHANGED: STUDENTS + IDEAS

Margaret's acting abilities were displayed several times this year.

Jose points to his native country.

Some students came one mile to school this year, some two, and some even three, but Margaret Starr came 10,000 miles to spend a year at Prospect. Margaret came from the city of Bulawayo, the second largest in Southern Rhodesia, on a scholarship granted by the American Field Service. A.F.S. also provides for American students to spend a year in any of sixty different countries. During the year Margaret spoke to countless classes and assemblies. Although she had never seen football or basketball before coming to America, Margaret became an active supporter of Prospect's Knights, cheering along with Bob and Teri Tobin, her American family. During the second semester, Prospect's exchange students from South America visited us through the International Fellowship. Roberto Carrillo, who came from Argentina and lived with Richard Henderson, plans to continue his studies in medicine next year. Sonnia Fapia, a fifteen-year old from Ecuador, stayed with Nancy Bischoff. Jeffrey Pristow, also from Ecuador, enjoyed his experiences in Rick Lynch's home; Frank Psota welcomed Jose Cerda from Chile.

It was here that Margaret got her first taste of 'real' American food—cafeteria style.

Sonnia, Roberto, and Jose look over a few of their strange new schoolbooks.

A TRADITION OF SERVICE

Selection for membership in the Accolade Chapter of the National Honor Society is based on character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Qualifying students are eligible for probationary status at the end of their sophomore year; juniors and seniors can apply for permanent membership in the spring. Approximately fifty probationary and regular members, under the guidance of sponsors Miss Trout and Mr. Yount, were active in stimulating the scholastic interest of the student body. Tom Hogarty served as chapter president; John MacKay, as vice-president; Sally Wolfe, as secretary; and Ann Wood, as treasurer. With the help of the Student Council members, this year's society co-sponsored student-teacher discussion panels during several eighth hours. Free tutoring services were offered in mathematics, science, and language, and members were responsible for the sale and distribution of the Roundtable, Prospect's literary publication. In order to finance the formal initiation of new members, the society sold Prospect pennants during Knightimes and operated a basketball concession in December.

Membership in Quill and Scroll, a national honor society for qualified seniors, is granted on the basis of general scholastic standing, advisor recommendation, and outstanding work on either the school newspaper or the yearbook. The purpose of Quill and Scroll is to honor students who have displayed superior journalistic talent and to encourage continued interest in writing and editing. The organization did not elect officers, but was sponsored by the publications' advisors, Mrs. Lipman, and Mrs. Kurtz. The names of the students chosen for membership were announced at the annual spring publications banquet.

Prospect's National Forensic League, sponsored by Mr. McNabb and Miss McGuigan, is one of the forty chapters in Illinois. Students who participated in individual speech events or served on a debate team, who enjoyed performing, and who excelled in public speaking, were eligible to apply for membership. Twenty-five points gained by winning speech contests and debates admitted an individual to this honorary organization. By selling school calendars NFL members were able to earn money for transportation to and from the away tournaments. Winners of the district meets attended the national contest.

"To be of service to my school, church, and community . . ." This was the major objective of each Modern Music Master. Sponsored by Mr. Terry Blackley and led by officers, Mike Blim, Gayle Travers, Cheryl Watson, Adrienne Kulieke, and Chrissie Klamm, Tri-M, a society for talented music students, encouraged music participation and appreciation. During the 1964-1965 season members attended the musical, "Oliver", sponsored the Tri-M dance, "Camelot", and provided music camp scholarships.

Mu Alpha Theta is a national honorary organization composed of upperclassmen interested in furthering their knowledge of mathematics. Officers Bob Weber, Tom Herod, and Marilynn Pahnke led Prospect members in the discussion of such topics as matrices, lesser known postulates for geometry, and a physical interpretation of the fourth dimension. These students heard guest lecturers and also spent meetings considering challenging problems prepared by sponsors Mr. Purcell and Mrs. Smith.

RECORDED YEAR'S EVENTS

Sometimes it seemed as though the typing would never end.

All the time, hard work, and frustrations in the making of an outstanding yearbook are repaid when excited students receive a completed record of another year of education. The principal responsibility for the production of this year's book was vested in four students: Editor-in-Chief Cheryl Busse, Copy Editor Sue Knechtel, Photo Editor Kathi Hagan, and Class Editor Gay Teborek. Under the leadership of these competent individuals, the other sixteen staff members wrote copy, heads, and captions; designed artistic layouts; and alphabetized, organized, and filed pictures and identifications. The chief objective of this year's staff was to create a new and somewhat unique yearbook. "A time to enjoy all different aspects of the 1964-1965 school year" was the subtle theme on which the book was planned. Mrs. Lipman, sponsor, and Mrs. Sanderson proofread finished pages before publication, contacted photographers, and offered advice and encouragement when it was most needed. Working together, the Crest staff produced a picture book of memories from the '64-'65 year.

Campaign gimmicks spread to the cafeteria.

RECORDED HISTORY

Co-editors of The Prospector this year were Cathy Whitcomb and Bob McAndrew. Aided by Feature Editor Louise Wemette, Editorial Editor Carol Sesterhenn, Photography Editor Debbie Hansen, Sports Editor Chuck Hoffman, Exchange Editor Claudia Grafton, and the co-editors, a staff of thirty-two energetic students gathered information and wrote articles about all curricular and extracurricular activities. Staff members also wrote editorials, took pictures, planned lay-outs, and proofread the newspaper before its bi-weekly publication. Under the guidance of Advisor Mrs. Kurtz, the staff published a newspaper which achieved the goals of focusing public attention on worthy achievement; of creating interest in the educational, forensic, athletic, and social activities of the school; of fostering leadership, initiative, co-operation, and business responsibility; and of creating and developing loyalty, school spirit, and school patriotism. In addition, The Prospector offered experience in practical journalism and an appreciation for local and current affairs. The appearance of Prospect's newspaper was altered this year with a newly designed name plate and masthead drawn by junior, Dan Krembs, under the supervision of Mr. Keith Weiss.

Discussion of rivals' papers inspired new ideas.

Busy staff members took time out for a picture.

Sports Editors Scott Hein and Chuck Hoffman looked over their latest accomplishment.

Carol Sesterhenn, Editorial Editor, proofread the final editions.

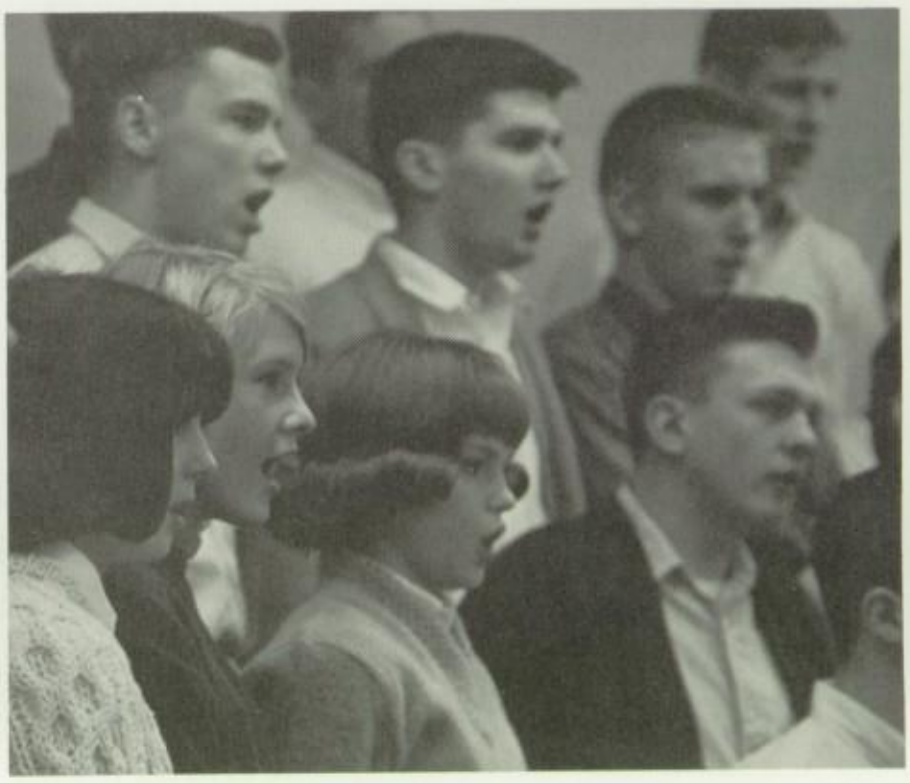
ENTERTAINING THE KNIGHTS



PROSPECT'S MELLOW TONES

Nancy Anderson accompanied Coreen Cordova on the piano.

The Mellotones took off their white gloves and put on horns for the occasion.

The number of girls was still thirteen, but there were quite a few other changes in the 1964-1965 Mellotones. The twelve seniors and one junior rehearsed and performed under the new directorship of Mr. Terry Blackley. With the regular practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the ensemble planned special interpretations of many songs. An adaptation of "The Theme from Charade," highlighted the Knightimes coronation. Besides singing at school functions such as the variety show and the Tri-M dance, the thirteen traveled to various service clubs, schools, and religious organizations. The girls were chosen for their outstanding vocal qualities, their attitude in class, and heir ability to blend with other voices.

Prospect's most accomplished choral music group, the Mixed Chorus, presented secular and sacred musical arrangements for concerts and school assemblies. Under the direction and guidance of Mr. Mische and Mr. Blackley, these talented vocalists mastered popular songs, folk songs, and arrangements from the musical Oliver. Prospect featured the chorus at the Christmas assembly, the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, and graduation. These students also performed at the Old Orchard Country Club for a Christmas Rotary Club meeting, at the annual District 214 Music Festival, and at the French-orientated musical, So This Is Paris. A show group of senior girls called the Mellotones, a junior girls' ensemble, and a select Choir which specialized in a cappella singing and religious music, sang with other members of the Mixed Chorus. Mixed Chorus not only consisted of upperclassmen but also included talented freshman boys. All music students sold boxes of DeMets turtles to raise money for new robes and for costumes, props, and scenery used in the musical.

Two large choral groups, the Freshman Girl's Chorus and the Girl's Chorus, offered membership to female music students of Prospect High School. The Freshman Girl's Chorus, open to all talented freshman girls, offered the opportunity to study the basic fundamentals of music and the elements of choral singing. Special emphasis was placed on individual voice and group performance. During the year twelve girls were selected from this group for membership in Freshman Girl's Ensemble. The Girl's Chorus consisted of sophomore, junior, and senior music students. This chorus studied and perfected more advanced musical arrangements. Both vocal groups had varied experience in musical activities. During the winter they participated in the Christmas Festival and the Christmas Assembly. Later in the year they were featured in the Spring Concert. The Girl's Chorus also performed in the school musical and represented our school in the District 214 Music Festival. Both vocal groups were under the sponsorship and direction of Mr. Mishe and Mr. Blackley.

AND THE BAND

Trumpeters signaled the announcement of the queen.

They needed room to practice.

PLAYED ON AND ON

The halftime show was always welcomed at football games.

During the 1964-1965 season two new band directors came to Prospect. Mr. Howard Sandlund and Mr. Terrence Blackley directed the Beginner's Band, the Cadet Band, the Concert Band, the Symphonic Band, the Marching Band, and the Blue and White Bands. Members of the Beginner's and Cadet Bands utilized class time to practice individually, in sections, in component groups, and together, in order to improve and master musical skills. The Marching Band consisted of the combined Symphonic and Concert Bands. Under the direction of Mr. Blackley and Drum Major Scott Nyquist, the Marching Band performed at all of the home football games. These half-time shows were executed conjointly with the Rhythmettes. Contrary to previous years, the Marching Band continued to exist after the football season ended. A special pep band encouraged cross country runners at home meets. For the basketball season the Marching Band was divided into the Blue and White Bands. They alternately played at basketball games and pep assemblies. Later during the year the Marching Band adopted a concert program. Musicians were divided into the Symphonic Band and the less experienced Concert Band.

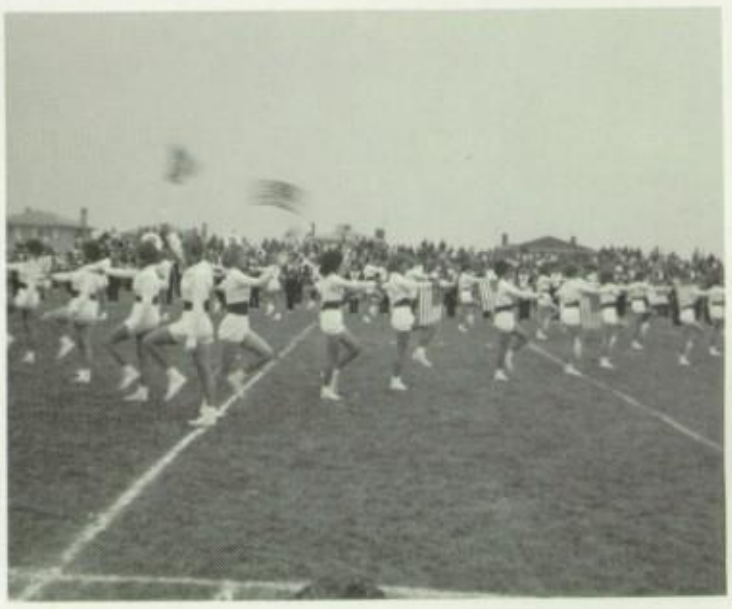
ENTERTAINED WITH DRILLS

RHYTHMETTES. FRONT ROW: Jackie Shervey, Diane Novotny. ROW TWO: Sally Godenrath, Sue Kozlowski, Doris Schlais. ROW THREE: Carol Sesterhenn, Barb Settle, Donna Longfield, Ann Wood, Gloria Lucarz, Nancy Wankel, Bonnie Stitt. ROW FOUR: Janine Hammond, Joanne Basil, Alice Tully, Cindy Curtin, Chris Elman, Heidi Schnyder, Barb Downing, Linda Bauer, Robey Pagenkopf. ROW FIVE: Mary Reinsma, Sue Morris, Pat Doran, Merrilee Benson, Vicki Ernst, Kathy Kuebler, Mary Wendt, Mary Brereton, Val Ruther, Donna Gitzke, Linda Underwood. ROW SIX: Sandy Correll, Sue Oravetz, Charlotte Quill, Barb Ronan, Kathi Hagan, Jan Rohner, Jayne Wangerin, Michele Kutten, Barb Broadbent, Sherry Tuller, Pam Dunnoon, Sandy Soderstrom.

It was a cold and windy day, but the Rhythmettes still marched.

Twirlers came off the field for a while.



Flags took the place of pom-poms for this performance.

"Dress r-r-right! Pick up your feet. Wrong foot!" These and many others commands were heard every fifth hour while Miss Hallett's Rhythmettes practiced their routines for the numerous performances throughout the 1964-1965 school year. Football half-times were highlighted by the precision twirling and marching of twelve twirlers and twenty-four pom-pom girls in each show. "Our Featured Numbers" introduced a season of high-stepping performances. Such programs as "Around the World" and a "Salute to Popular Recording Stars" delighted the half-time audiences. Continuing their original drills during the basketball season, forty-seven sophomores, juniors, and seniors executed intricate and interesting patterns on the fieldhouse floor. Led through clever routines by four co-captains, Diane Novotny, Jackie Shervey, Sally Goldenrath, and Doris Schlais, the corps exhibited its talent in the traditional Christmas show, "Drummer Boy." Highlighting special events were a performance at Northwestern's Band Day and a successful and well-planned turnabout dance, "Fireside Inn."

AND DANCES

Orchesis members performed the "Highland Fling" at a basketball half-time.

Skill and grace were perfected through a series of exercises and poses.

This year Orchesis was decreased in size to a total of twenty members—all sophomores, juniors, and seniors. During seventh hour the first gym rang with the sounds of sponsor Mrs. Jones clapping the beats of the music of each new number. Four winter shows, "Dolls Around the World," "Ja Da," "Highland Fling," and "Sleigh Ride," entertained half-time audiences. During the Christmas season the girls presented a series of demi-character sketches for children from an orphanage. President Laurel Gebhardt, Vice-president Mimi Shaw, Secretary-treasurer Ellen Haderly, and Publicity Chairman Lynn Krueger organized and directed the performances. Clever and appropriate costumes were designed and made by a committee of six faithful dancers. The efforts of the year climaxed April 8,9, and 10 in the Theatre. This annual Orchesis show, "An Evening of Dance," consisted of three ballets in the character, modern, and classical idioms. The show was produced and directed by Mrs. Jones, and stage props and scenery were designed and constructed by dancers in conjunction with the art department.

French culture was absorbed through use of periodicals.

To promote a deeper understanding of the culture, language, government, and customs of France was the goal of Prospect's French Club this past year. Under the leadership of its sponsors, Mr. Raymond Rice, Miss Patricia Fruin, and Miss Gail Peterson, the French Club planned a Christmas party and a formal dinner and presented a French version of The Gift of the Magi. Students viewed slides of France, listened to French records, and learned French Christmas carols. The forty members were led by officers, Robey Pagenkopf, president; Janet Evans, vice-president; and Connie Peterson, secretary-treasurer. The French Club provided an enjoyable introduction to French life for all participating students.

The German Club offered its members a fine opportunity to learn more about the German language and German customs. The club's officers, President Marilynn Pahnke, Vice-president Shirley Borg, Secretary-treasurer Bob Lyons, and sponsor, Miss Hudson, planned many interesting programs throughout the year. A student who had been to Germany entertained the club with slides of his visit. One meeting was devoted to a discussion of the Pennsylvania Dutch, an American social group of German descent. The members also planned a Christmas party with German customs and refreshments. During the year club members were taught popular German games. By learning more of the cultural aspects of Germany through the club, students became increasingly interested in the study of language.

Officers consulted magazines for new ideas.

Texts were used to make realistic displays.

During the past year the Latin Club, under the leadership of Mr. Zamzow, succeeded in presenting interesting and educational programs. The club was led by President Carol Snyder, Secretary Carlene Doran, and Treasurer Bob Krysiak. Arrangements were made for many of the club members to attend the Junior Classical League Convention, held at Forest View High School in November. The club also sponsored an annual Christmas banquet. Members met once a month to supplement knowledge about Italy and the Latin language gained in the classroom. Movies of ancient Rome and of classical architecture were shown to provide background material for more detailed studies of cultural influences on today's world.

Variety, excitement, and money characterized activities of the 1964-1965 Russian Club. For variety, President Marty Chakoian, Vice-president Neil Rowe, and Secretary-treasurer Bonnie Kijak, as well as the other members of the club, sponsored guest speakers, viewed Russian films, and studied customs of the Russians. Of special interest for members was a Christmas party featuring a combo and a Russian favorite—Borsch. Boasting the largest treasury of any club at Prospect, Miss Hurchik's group could well be proud of its achievement.

Prospect's Spanish Club members concentrated on improving their general understanding of the language and the people who speak it. Latin American culture was emphasized to acquaint Spanish students with the customs and daily life of Prospect's four exchange students from South America. Interested club members heard talks given by Ralph Thompson, Don Jernberg, and Nancy Bischoff on their summer experiences in Columbia and Argentina. Spanish teachers, Mr. Curry and Mrs. Bechtel, directed club activities.

SUB-VARSITY DEBATE: Gary Edwards, Norm Horler, Greg Schmidt, Don St. Clair.

Beginning, sub-varsity, and varsity debaters heatedly argued the current proposition—"Resolved: That nuclear weapons should be controlled through an international organization." Beginning debaters learned to construct their affirmative and negative cases by searching for useful information and by cataloguing obtained facts. They also learned and practiced the techniques of effective public speaking. These debaters were coached by Mr. McNabb. Sub-varsity debaters guided by Miss McGuigan, improved the basic skills they had learned and mastered as beginners. The successful varsity competitors, Marie Thourson, Mike Blim, Jim Doran, and Bill Doty, were coached by Mr. Voelz. All debaters spent many hours in preparation and practice for the Suburban Interstate Debate League and the National Forensics League tournaments. Marie Thourson and Mike Blim ranked fifth in the state at the N.F.L. tournament at Northern Illinois University, while Jim Doran and Bill Doty placed twelfth. All four varsity debaters appeared on CBS's television debate show, "Rebuttal."

USE OF VOICE ENCOURAGED

Getting together to discuss styles of folksinging, sharing chordings and arrangements, listening to one another's latest view on current folk singers, and having fun with music were the major purposes of Prospect's newest club, the Folk Music Club. Sponsored by Mrs. Paxton, and headed by President Marsha Romer, Vice-president Ellen Haderly, and Secretary-treasurer Larry Stein, the club met every Thursday to sing folk music and to plan special activities such as hootenanies for the benefit and enjoyment of other folk music enthusiasts.

Participation in Individual Speech Events was not open to everyone. This activity was not an organized club but a part of the National Forensics League. In accordance with requirements for membership in NFL, students had to earn points to join Individual Speech Events. Members used the school facilities to practice for district, sectional, and state contests which were held during the year. Mr. Ronald Sims and Mr. Leo Hundt advised and assisted stuaents in ten events including poetry recitations and prose and play reading.

BANNERS—BALLS—BOOSTERS

This year's Girls' Recreation Association program, under the direction of Miss Freeman and Miss Blose, emphasized intramural activities in the sports of volleyball, basketball, bowling, softball, and tennis. The G.R.A. board assigned several representatives to organize each sport and to coach the teams. Bowling, the newest and most popular activity, was held at Thunderbird lanes every Wednesday. For the first time this year awards were given to the winning teams in all sports and to participating players of these winning teams.

The Pep Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Blose and Miss Freeman, strived to instill all Knights with enthusiasm for athletics and pride for the school. Projects for the year were the familiar "fight" banners in the cafeteria and the "victory" buttons that students wore. Also, permanent posters were made for the Athletic Department. Senior members of the club could be identified by their blue and gold "pep" pins. Officers were President Joyce Bloomquist, Vice-president Marilyn Ruback, and Secretary-treasurer Cindy Curtin.

Assuming the responsibilities of serving Prospect students and faculty members, the Library Club operated the circulation desk, filed books on the appropriate shelves, and managed the magazine room. Club members willingly answered questions about the library, suggested helpful and interesting books, and aided debaters in research projects. Each student librarian was required to work one period daily to earn yearly service awards of bronze and silver. Guided by the librarians, club members planned seasonal meetings.

The Junior Engineering Technical Society, sponsored by Mr. Baker, promoted an interest in mechanical and electrical engineering as a future trade for high school students. JETS President Don St. Clair, Vice-president Paul Thompson, Secretary-treasurer John Stitt, and club members visited engineering plants to attain a better understanding of the background, working conditions, and job opportunities in the engineering field. Universal Loyal Products Laboratory and American Foundry were the sites of several educational field trips.

Under the direction of Mr. Uth, the Model Railroad Club discussed operations of today's railroad systems. These informal talks were related to individual model railroad layouts and the special school model. President Tom Cramer, Vice-president Richard Henderson, Secretary Paul Zander, and Treasurer Dean Stanley recommended books and showed films on the methods of improving cars and track layouts. Although the club attracted a small membership, the boys planned interesting meetings and learned much about the railroads of today.

Attending classes and working with computers at the Illinois Institute of Technology were important activities of the Computer Club. This newly-organized club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Chapman, learned the complicated process of computer programing, the translation of a problem into the language of the computer. President Blake Baker conducted weekly meetings at which members practiced program writing and became proficient at key punching. Trips included a visit to the I.B.M. Data Center to supplement classroom knowledge.

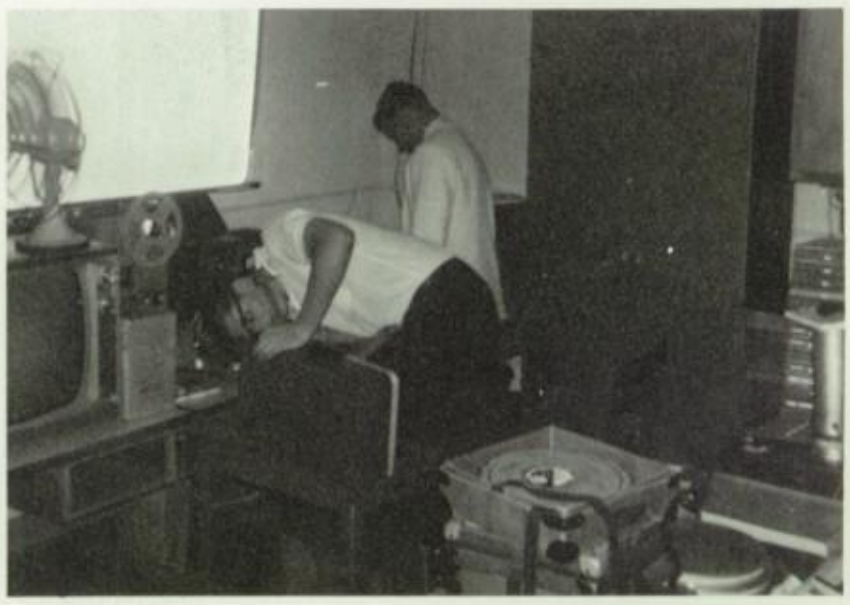
HOBBIES OF SIGHT, SOUND

Mr. Crane supervised the technicalities of photography.



Students investigated the techniques of developing and enlarging their pictures.

This past year Prospect's Radio Club again gave members the opportunity to maintain ham radio licenses. During club meetings they had a chance to communicate with radio stations of other schools and communities. The club's own station was operated from the Industrial Arts classrooms. Co-sponsors of the club, Mr. Baker and Mr. Wanner, possess licenses and often helped students operate ham radio sets.

Mr. Etherton and Mr. Crane were the program directors for this year's Camera Club. Meeting every second Tuesday of the month, the fifteen regular members learned the secrets of the dark room through actual experience of developing the film, making the prints, and enlarging the pictures. The major aim of camera enthusiasts was to improve focusing for clearer, brighter, and more interesting photographs.

RADIO CLUB. Jim Phelan, Bryan Mumford, Charles Traver, Dave Donkers, Rodney Skryznski.

AND THE NATURAL SCIENCES

Senior members guided freshman projects.

To provide additional educational opportunities for those students interested in biology and to promote further interest in natural sicences were the goals of the Biology Club this year. Keeping these goals in mind, the club's officers, President Phil Fritchey, Vice-president Allen Krueger, Secretary Linda Clark, and Treasurer Paula Mast, planned many interesting and informative programs. Under the supervision of Mr. Clark, members took field trips to the Indiana Dunes State Park and to several pharmaceutical laboratories. The club also viewed a film on the Natural History Museum. Rick Lynch entertained students with a talk on Humboldt State College in Arcata, California, where he had majored in marine biology for six weeks. The club raised money at the December 7th basketball game.

EDUCATION THROUGH

This past year the Distributive Education Club included an increased number of field trips and guest speakers in its educational program. Modern merchandising, retailing, buying, selling, shipping, advertising, and displaying were taught in a special course in salesmanship. Participants in the program spent several hours each morning in the classroom. During the afternoons students received actual training in occupational techniques at neighborhood stores. Employment secured credits toward graduation and provided daily pay. Advisor Mr. Seibel, President Penny Schelsky, Vice-president Doug Patterson, Secretary Julie Christensen, and Treasurer Patricia Tucker organized special activities.

Penny Schelsky had academic classes in the morning and earned money as a cashier in the afternoon.

D.E. students learned the method of setting type for advertisments.

EXPERIENCE PAID OFF

This occupation proved to be an advantage in the present as well as the future.

A local car agency garage was their "classroom."

The D.O. Club, under the supervision of Mr. Darling, was an outgrowth of the Diversified Occupations program. The state required the program to sponsor a club in which the participants could learn the rules of parliamentary procedure. Therefore, meetings were conducted during class periods. Required courses were taken in the morning hours, and the elective hours were used for the D.O. program. Students in the program left Prospect in the afternoon to pursue specialized study experiences in a skilled trade. Most of the students in the program plan to earn their future livelihood with occupational skills acquired through Prospect's Diversified Occupations program.

Through its activities during the year, Future Teachers of America Club prepared members for problems and experiences which they would encounter as teachers. Guided by their sponsors, Mr. Baker and Mrs. DePasqualle, the members observed classes at Kensington Grade School and heard guest lecturers explain various fields of education, which included teaching the blind, deaf, and retarded. All members were encouraged by President Gail Heumann to earn points for the attractive club pins and year guards.

The Future Homemakers of America, under the direction of Mrs. Breiding and Mrs. Lorenz, were led by student officers, President Sharon Jaacks, Vice-president Diane Marchetta, and Secretary Marilyn Marchetta. Early in the year club members sponsored a tea and installation dinner for twenty-five new members. They took an active part in the Penny Flame scholarship Contest, selecting a girl to represent the Prospect chapter. The motto, "Toward New Horizons," inspired the girls to promote citizenship.

Business Education Club members operated the school store.

Efforts of the members of the Business Education Club enabled the club to experience a full and exciting year. Under the leadership of President Toni Spacone, the club toured Universal Oil Company, Esso Oil Company, and Liberty Mutual Insurance Company—trips offering first-hand knowledge of opportunities in modern business. The club sponsored several guest speakers and participated in testing programs for awards in commercial fields. Mrs. Bright, Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. Rhubach, and the club members installed a point system encouraging leadership, planned a course in parliamentary procedure, and sold programs at football games.

Prospect's Social Science Club was sponsored by Mr. Bullock and Mr. Schmidt. Through lecture, discussion, and argumentation, its members learned more about the social sciences and increased their interest in this field. They strove to promote better citizenship among all members of the student body. The most notable activitiy of the Social Science Club and one which included the entire student body was the staging of a mock presidential election shortly before the actual national election in November 1964. Due to the efficient counting by members of the club, the election returns were posted the following morning.

The goal of the Medical Careers Club was to co-ordinate many areas of the medical profession and to stimulate interest in this career field. Accordingly, President Sandy Vasy, Vice-president Nancy Bischoff, and Secretary-treasurer Eloise Hasz, as well as the other club members, planned demonstrations and listened to lectures designed to instruct high school students in various fields of medicine. The club also sponsored field trips to nearby hospitals. The school nurse, Mrs. Allen and club sponsor, Miss Fowler offered assistance when needed.

The Ski Club, under the direction of Mr. Clark, enjoyed the prestige of a first place award in the Knightimes float-building contest. Their prize-winning skier represented the enthusiastic members of a large and active club. President John Metzger, Vice-president Howard Dawson, Secretary Kathy Borgardt, and Treasurer Vicki Heurlin encouraged plans for ski trips to various slopes in the area. The club also sponsored excursions to Boyne Mountain and Indian Head. The activity agenda was expanded to include a visit to a ski fair

GAMESMANSHIP PRACTICED

Sponsored by Mr. Grants, the Chess Club members met to learn to play the game of skill and wits. President Blake Baker, Vice-president Paul Thompson, Secretary-treasurer Bill Schiesser, and the fifteen club members participated in elimination tournaments. Prospect masters also played winners from other schools in the district. The club increased individual knowledge of the game and promoted chess as a worth-while hobby. By the end of the year, the Chess Club members were experienced masters of the "game of kings."

The Bridge Club had several objectives. Bidding, playing the hand correctly, and counting points were emphasized for beginners. Another objective was to teach the more advanced players some "tricks of the trade." Players appreciated the value of concentration in bridge and recognized the increasing popularity of the game in social life. With the advice of Mr. Gelhaar and the intelligence of several advanced players, the twenty members practiced the tricks and techniques necessary to play a good game of bridge.

CREATIVE WRITING CLUB. FRONT ROW: Mrs. Flynn, Charlene Bohl, Connie Peterson, Jan Peet. ROW TWO: Sandy Dabovich, Carol Hardin, Adrienne Kulieke, Sue Knechtel.

INTERPRETING IDEAS

This past year, the Creative Writing Club initiated several new trends. First, club members were no longer responsible for publication of Prospect's literary supplement, The Round Table. Instead, meetings were planned and organized to introduce various writing techniques and to discuss individual problems in creative writing. Students were also encouraged to offer opinions and to accept criticism of literary accomplishments. Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Wasam guided discussions and suggested improvements in writing styles.

The philosophies of Plato and Aristotle and metaphysics were among the discussion topics of the Philosophy Club. Under the direction of Mr. Gabinski, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Fyfe, the club read plilosophical books and discussed the suggested theories. Club members were encouraged to express personal interpretations of the reading materials and to search for critiques by other writers. Discussions uncovered the basic ideals and logic of each philosopher and the application of the philosophy to everyday life.

THROUGH THE ARTS

Operating under the direction of Mr. Knudsen, Art Club members enjoyed a variety of projects during the year. Individuals and groups of students made posters for the Health Office, decorated school display windows with interesting exhibits, designed jewelry, and molded pottery. President Chris Kobi helped to organize field trips to museums and art shows. The club profited by selling original Christmas cards during the holiday season. Discussions about art aided students in interpreting works by contemporary masters.

Membership in the Drama Guild was unrestricted for students interested in theatrical productions, whether on the stage or behind the scenes. Miss Weiss, Mr. Poston, and Mr. Chard ranked members by the number of hours spent working on various theatrical projects. The club presented a play as well as participated in all of Prospect's annual dramatic presentations. The spring banquet climaxed another successful year. Outstanding members were honored with special awards for talent and effort at this time.

THE SPIRIT OF

THE SPECTATOR

ABILITY AND SKILL

This was just one of the duties of sponsoring the Knightimes dance.

The handsome, strong, mature, young men, proudly dressed in blue sweaters every Friday of the school year, were members of Prospect's Varsity Club. All Prospect athletes awarded with varsity letters were eligible to join the club and to participate in its many services to the school. Service was the main objective of the Varsity Club, and it was, in fact, organized for this purpose. Club members served as ushers at pep assemblies and often took part in miscellaneous service projects. The most noteworthy of these was the club's sponsorship of the Knightimes dance, which was a memorable climax to a wonderful homecoming weekend. One of the club's most unusual and enjoyable special projects took place on December 10 when the lettermen graciously consented to act as escorts for a formal dance at a girl's academy. This most unselfish action only served to illustrate the true nature of Prospect's athletes. The sponsors of the club were Mr. Seymour and Mr. Gaines, men whose leadership often proved to be invaluable to Varsity Club members.

"We're from Prospect. Couldn't be prouder . . . !" These words resounded throughout the field house as the cheerleaders led Knights at a pep assembly. Under the leadership of Miss Nancy Dallia, this year's cheerleaders cheered Prospect to victory after victory. The varsity squad, under captain Diane Mayes, supported Prospect at all varsity football and basketball games. The junior-varsity squad, under captain Charli Kreusch, led Knights at all junior-varsity football and basketball games. They also cheered at the freshman and sophomore games. Both squads attended many other athletic events, always encouraging the Prospect boys to win. As in previous years, the cheerleaders sold mums for Knightimes. Money that was obtained from these sales will be used in future years to buy new uniforms. For the first time year each Prospect cheerleader wore numerals of her graduating class and a chevron for each year as a cheerleader. The cheerleaders added immeasurably to spirit and sportsmanship at all athletic events.

"Come on Knights. We want some action!"

HARRIERS SET

One of the familiar sights that accompany the fall season at Prospect is the view of tired boys in sweat suits puffing around the school grounds. These are the members of the cross country squad, and they are among the hardest-working athletes at Prospect. A typical cross country practice would have the boys running at least five miles. This grueling exercise prepared them for maximum effort in meets. The team finished with an overall record of 7—5. In conference competition Prospect had a 5—2 record with third place in the conference. Pacing the team were seniors Gus Filantres, Ed and George Schneider, all-conference Gary York, and junior Jack Pollard. The team's enthusiastic coach was Mr. Calisch.

With one final breath and step, Prospects, Gust Filantres makes a record timing.

NEW RECORDS

Mr. Wanner guided, coached, and encouraged this year's frosh-soph cross country team to new heights of success. They compiled a record of 6—2 in conference competition. These younger harriers also claimed an enviable third place in the final conference standings. Freshmen Steve Holmes and Bob Bartley and sophomore Ray Hearl led the underclassmen runners to victories over Glenbrook South, Glenbrook North, Deerfield, Wheeling, and Niles North teams. Speed and endurance were required of all the boys and exhibited by those who ran the one and one-half mile course around the school every day. The team boasted many fine freshmen who will be returning for another successful season.

Rick Lytle rushed from the claws of the Falcons.

Prospect's varsity football team recovered from a poor season last year to post a 7—1 record and become conference co-champions. Coach Don Williams, assisted by Mr. George Gattas, Mr. John McDougal, and Mr. Don Barrett, led the team to win this coveted position. Highlights of the season were the convincing defeats of Wheeling and Forest View and the spectacular 16—12 victory over Maine West. The Knights' only loss was to Glenbrook South, the team that shared first place with Prospect. Coach Williams felt that the Prospect success was primarily a team effort, all members of the all-senior team contributing to the squad's success. Leading rushers were Rick Lytle and Captain Wayne Kulinski. Top linemen, Mark Pasdiora, Earle Smith, Greg Kowal, Jim LaRocco, and George Freeland battled for the touchdowns backed by Steve Johnson, Bill Phillips, Steve Hestilow, and Jim Zuckermandel.

PERFECT CONFERENCE RECORD

Prospect's junior varsity football team won the conference championship this year, recording a third successful season. These champion Knights, coached by Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Arseneau, completed their conference competition with a record of 6—0. A single loss to Elgin Larkin in non-conference activity and a tie game with Deerfield were recorded as the only marks on the perfect record of wins. The J.V. squad was handicapped by several injuries during the season and by the loss of personnel to Wheeling, but despite this, the boys were determined to win the honors. One of the highlights of the season was the 34—6 triumph over Maine West, a spectacular and important victory for our team. Both coaches agreed that the team had mastered the skills of football, had exhibited the necessary fighting spirit, and showed promising indications of future success.

This year Prospect's sophomore football team had a tough season, posting a final record of 3—5. The main cause of this upset was the numerous injuries of team members. Sophomores this year mastered basic football fundamentals and practiced the basic slot-T formation. Through the many hours of hard practice on the gridiron, sophomores gained precious experience in football tactics. Coach Mudge expressed pride in his hard-working team, and through his instruction, guidance, and support, the players fought hard for success.

The freshman football teams practiced the basic fundamentals of football. Coached by Mr. Ziemek, the freshman A squad posted a seasonal record of 2—4—1. This team's all-out fight against Wheeling recorded a victory when our boys came from behind to score two touchdowns for a 14—6 lead. The freshman B team had a better conference record, 6—0. Coached by Mr. Benoche, the boys prepared for tough conference competition. Both coaches devoted valuable time after school teaching strategic plays and defensive tactics.

Prospect's varsity swimming team, coached by Mr. Barrett with the assistance of Mr. Sandine, strove to improve upon last year's performance. Team members sacrificed morning sleep in order to practice before school at the Northwest Suburban Y.M.C.A. pool. These practice hours, devoted to the development of form and speed, were worthwhile. The Aquaknights placed second in the St. Viator Invitational Meet and third at Glenbrook South, defeating Arlington, Forest View, and Wheeling. Captained by senior Hugh Wesler, the team finished the season with a 2—8 record. Team standouts, Bob Angstadt, Larry Salerno, Barry Timko, and Hugh Wesler, provided the basis for an optimistic outlook in conference and district competition.

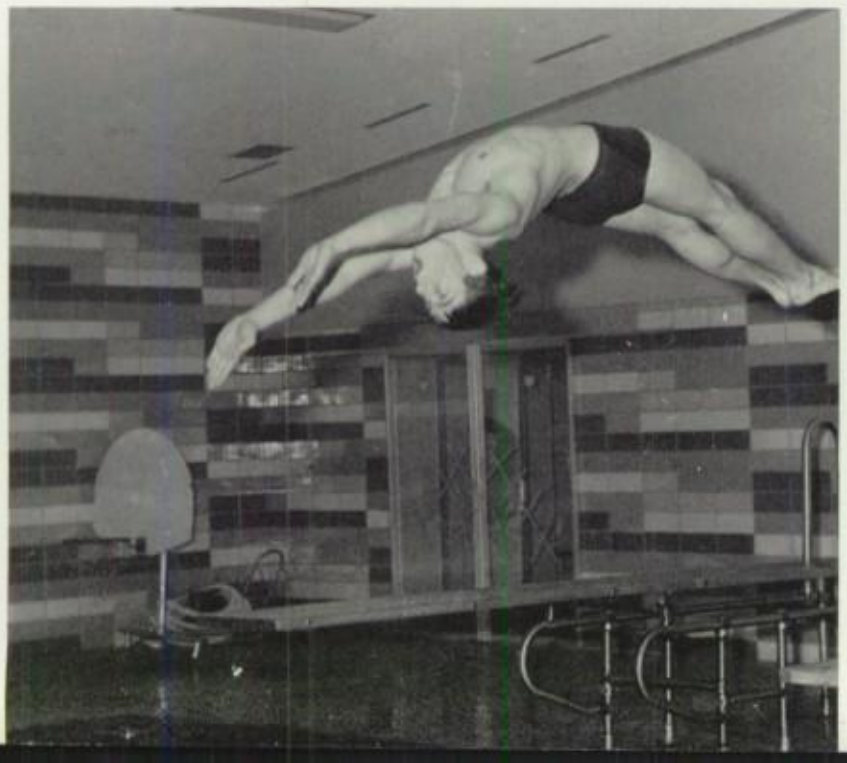
Practice and more practice made perfect.

Prospect gained points with a perfect back dive.



A group of determined frosh-soph swimmers and their coaches, Mr. Barrett and Mr. Sandine, began practicing early each morning before breakfast at the Northwest Suburban Y.M.C.A. The key word of the tankers' season was improvement. More precise timing, more adequate stroking, and a smoother style were all goals toward which the young swimmers worked. Although their overall record was not as desirable as originally expected, the frosh-soph team's marked improvement was evident at two final meets of the year. Prospect won both meets and established eighteen new school records. Great individual improvement among the frosh-soph swimmers was very encouraging, and the outlook for next year promised to be more successful.

They stroked their way to victory.

Prospect's varsity basketball team enjoyed one of its better campaigns of recent years this season. The degree of success attained by the Knights was due mainly to their coach, Mr. Collier, who, in addition to teaching them the fundamentals of offensive and defensive play, instilled in them a team spirit and pride in accomplishment that aided tremendously. The highlight of the season was the team's triumph in the Joliet Holiday Tournament. To win this tournament the Knights had to defeat three fine teams, thus making the victory particularly satisfying. Prospect's deliberate offense and tenacious defense were led by veteran guard Bill Phillips, who contributed his second fine varsity season to the basketball team. Other starters were guard Steve Kerr, forwards Steve Johnsen and Jim Larocco, and center John MacKay. The Knights could not win the conference championship because of their two losses to Maine West, but as the season drew to a close our boys were in a tight three-team race for second place and were anticipating the regional tournament.

BOTH J-VS AND SOPHS

After a rather dismal start, the Prospect junior varsity basketball team roared into high gear and appeared well on its way to a conference championship as the season's end approached. The "jayvees" lost their first game, but they were unbeatable from that point as they swept through fifteen games without defeat. A first-place finish certainly seemed likely, and Coach Arseneau had good reason to be proud of his team. Mainstays of the team were J. D. Thorne, Tom Beard, and Dan Agard. During the course of the season the whole team showed consistent improvement on both offense and defense, and after posting a fine record this year, they are looking forward to competing on the varsity level as seniors. Among the season highlights were twin victories over Forest View, Wheeling, and Maine West squads, as well as victories over all other league opponents.

CAPTURED WINNING TITLE

Returning from an extremely successful freshman year, this year's sophomore Knights once again displayed their ability to win at basketball. Coached by Mr. McDougal, the cagers clinched the St. Charles Holiday Tournament with a thrilling victory over Aurora West in the final game, making Prospect the first school to ever win the tournament two years in a row. Led by forwards Dave Kingman, Mike Mueller, and Al Shers and guards Dan Carda and Don Whitlock and backed by a strong bench, the sophomores fought for another conference championship. Since offense was the boys' strong point, the team spent much time drilling to better their defensive techniques. While compiling a formidable record, the sophomore cagers looked forward to two more strenuous years of competitive basketball. All team members hope for continued success in future years of play.

VICTORY RANG FOR FROSH

In their first year of playing together for Prospect, the freshman A team displayed a remarkable amount of skill for the present and promise for the future. The young Knights won their first twelve games in a row and seemed headed for one of the most successful seasons in freshman history. The backbone of the frosh attack was a fine fast break and an aggressive defense. The boys worked hard on the fundamentals of basketball, and Coach Benoche stressed basic techniques that are necessary for future success.

One of the most dedicated steps on Prospect's basketball ladder was the freshman B team, under the direction of Coach Syzmanski. These boys practiced on the asphalt of the fieldhouse, and their games were tucked away from view in the west gym. But these conditions did not deter the Knights from having a fine season, as they won nine of their first ten games. The watchword for the "Bees" was defense, and they played an aggressive press which proved to be quite successful in defeating opposing teams.

Hard work and constant practice were rewarded when this year's frosh-soph gymnastics team captured the much sought-after conference championship. Coached by Mr. Gaines, these boys were victorious over the previously undefeated Arlington and scored a tie against a strong team from New Trier. Their impressive record of 12—0—1 reflected the skill and technique that these gymnasts had acquired throughout the season. Striving for perfect timing and accuracy, the frosh-soph team members practiced every night after school to insure our winning tradition. CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP

Prospect varsity grapplers boasted the best season ever with a 7—0 conference record and an 11—0 standing in dual meets. Coach Mudge can certainly be proud of his first undefeated season as a wrestling coach. With daily practice of the basic moves and counter moves, our boys were prepared to face any opponents. Highlighting the season's triumphs was the 23—16 victory over previously undefeated Deerfield. This key meet gained undisputed possession of first place in the conference for Prospect. Prospect matmen claimed eight champions and a first place rating in the Main East Quadrangular and placed second in district competition. The outstanding records of four varsity wrestlers permitted entry in sectional competition: Bill Becker (14—1—1), George Freeland (20—1), Earl Smith (15—2), and Mark Pasdiora (19—1—1). A single disappointment, fifth place in the Prospect Holiday Tournament, marred a perfect season. Captains George Freeland and Bill Becker led the team to decisive wins in the final meets of the seasn against Forest View and Glenbrook South.

This year the junior varsity wrestling team posted one of the best seasons in the school's history. They placed second in the Mid-Suburban Conference and finished the season with a 7—3 record. The team earned impressive victories over Maine West, Arlington, Glenbrook North, and Wheeling. Our boys also placed second in the East Leyden Triangular. Mr. Shirmang coached a team comprised mostly of juniors; however, he was never able to coach a set team because of numerous injuries and the changing of team levels by many boys. The J.V. grapplers drilled on wrestling movements in series, and during the year they learned new escapes, reversals, and counter moves to win the meets.

PINNED DOWN VICTORIES

Mr. Ziemek's sophomore wrestling team, losing only one conference meet, placed second in the conference standings. Captains Roger Anderson and Vince Curry led the team to victories over Maine West, Forest View, Niles North, and Wheeling. Exhibiting above average skills, Pete Smith and Bill Wittmeyer helped the team place second in the district tournament. During the year the sophomores practiced pinning combinations, take-downs, escapes, and reversals. Through exhausting efforts, they finished the season with a record of 6—1.

Bob Link and Don Burkhardt led the freshman wrestling team to a fairly successful season. The boys earned wins over teams from Palatine, Glenbrook North, Glenbrook South, Niles North, and Wheeling, compiling a final conference record of 5—4. They also earned second place in the District 214 Tournament at Wheeling. Mr. Saum coached the freshmen and taught them how to execute take-downs, pinning combinations, reversals, and escapes. With these basic moves mastered, the freshmen anticipated more complicated plays and increased successes.

PAR—FECTION

Cold spring weather did not discourage the varsity and frosh-soph golf teams. Beginning in March, every evening was spent on the Mount Prospect Country Club golf course in an effort to learn new skills and to improve basic strokes. This year's team was determined to beat last year's excellent playing record and sixth place rating in the state meet. Mr. Collier coached all of the boys on the basics of golf and inspired a competitive spirit and desire to win meets against other schools. However, only five boys on each level participated during this year's golf season. The winning scores equal the sum of the four lowest team scores. During the season Prospect often boasted record scores.

TRACK WINS EXACTED

With the coming of spring, indoor and outdoor track equipment was again taken from storage for use by Mr. Calisch's varsity team. Prospect's trackmen participated in three categories of events: the sprint, the distance run, and the field event which included high jumping, pole vaulting, broad jumping, discus throwing, and shot putting. Mr. Calisch and Assistant Coach Mr. Gattas encouraged sprinters to greater speeds in the running of the 50-yard dash, the high and low hurdles and the relay races. Distance runners concentrated on endurance on the mile and half-mile courses. Team star Gary York surpassed his own record for the mile run, scoring additional points for Prospect.

Practicing with the varsity runners, the frosh-soph track team concentrated on increasing speed, building endurance, and utilizing every last ounce of energy. These young track men participated in all events: high jump, broad jump, pole vault, discus, shot put, hurdles, and relays. Besides the regular conference meets, the track team participated in the North Shore Invitational Tournament on March 20. Every day after school the sprinters went through a rigorous practice session to boost their skill and technique in preparation for competition at conference relay meets. Head Coach Mr. Calisch encouraged and inspired his frosh-soph team to continue Prospect's winning tradition.

For a long time it looked as if the snow would never leave Prospect, but when it did, one of the first signs of spring was the appearance of the varsity baseball squad. Under the direction of Coach Aldrich, the Knights set out to accomplish their goals for the 1965 season. These goals, aside from playing a game in good weather, were to win the conference championship title and to be successful in the state tournament playoffs. While the snow was still on the ground, the boys worked indoors on conditioning and fundamental skills. Led by veteran stars Greg Kowal and Rick Lytle, the team then moved outdoors to perfect the skills of batting, running, sliding, pitching, and fielding, necessary for success as a team. Many juniors on the squad will return next year for what should be another fine season.

They worked to learn and improve the skills of pitching, catching, batting, and fielding in order to better last year's fine playing record. Early weeks of practice were rewarded with a polished skill exhibited throughout the conference season. The frosh-soph players proved themselves worthy of being called Knights by keeping on the ball from the first game to the last.

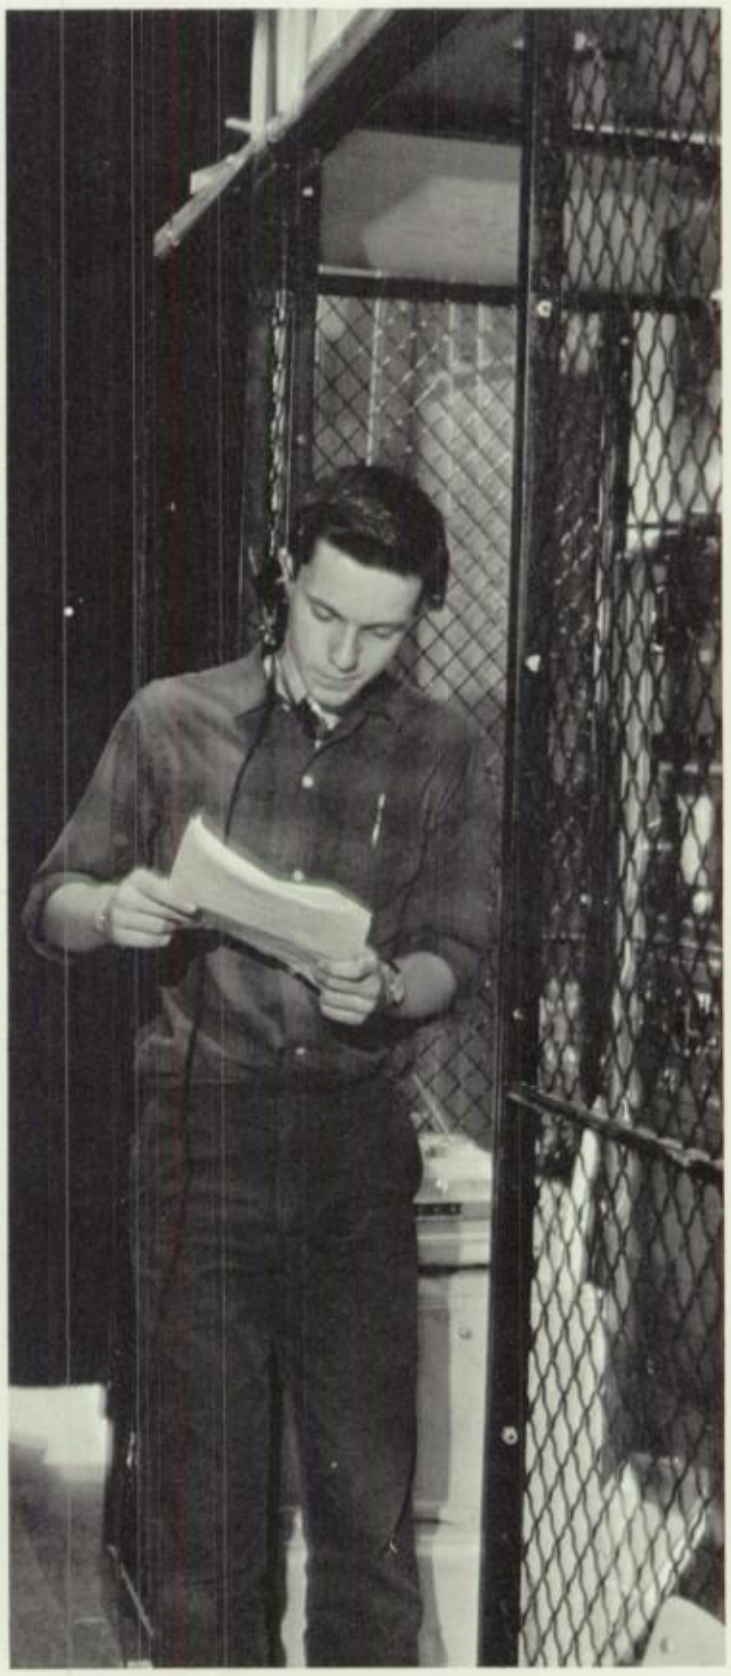
FINAL TOUCHES

WERE ADDED



Some students found themselves involved in a game of scrabble.

For some reason, the cafeteria was a very popular place.

MIXER BEGAN SOCIAL YEAR

A night for all Knights initiated the 1964-1965 social life at Prospect. Student Council, the sponsor of the annual All Knight Party, hired the "Shadows" to provide entertainment. Prospect's gyms echoed with the most recent pop music and shouts and stomps of dancers doing the twist, the hitchiker, the watusi, and individual interpretations of Beatle music. Volleyball appealed to more athletic interests. Rousing games of ping-pong challenged players in the fieldhouse, and chess, checkers, and monopoly provided diversion for others in the cafeteria. During the evening the Junior Class sponsored a movie filmed by students. Scenes from "The Fall of the Roman Empire" reviewed life in Rome at the time of Caesar's glory. Hot and tired after an evening of visiting, dancing, and playing, students welcomed refreshment in the cafeteria.

The knights of Prospect arranged the knights of chess.

Naturally some found time for this particular pastime.

VISIT TO THE UNDERWORLD

Contemplating the scene.

The Devil brought us culture at its finest.

Bob McAndrew and Sandy Joern dreamed up devilish plans.

Pandemonium reigned on October 23 and 24 when the Prospect Little Theatre stage was transformed into the domain of Satan and his devilish crew. "Silk and Satan," a two-act deviltry written by Mr. Calisch and Adrienne Kulieke, portrayed the punishment of misbehaved school children in the deepest regions of Hades. Mephistopholes, played by the wicked Bob McAndrew, exercised his magic powers and his Mellotone Youth Squad to transform the aged Miss Lil O'Lady, Becky Clausen, into a lovely young flirt, Coreen Cordova. Mr. Gillon thrilled the variety show audiences with his performance as Satan, and Sandy Joern stole the show as Miss Brimstone, the satanic assistant of Mephistopheles. Talented students promoted the show's warm mood with appropriately worded songs and devilish dances. Faculty Co-directors Mr. Weiss and Mr. Fyfe and Student Director Don Jernberg produced a most successful show.

Miss Lil O'Lady thanked her youth crew.

The youth crew looked over its next job.

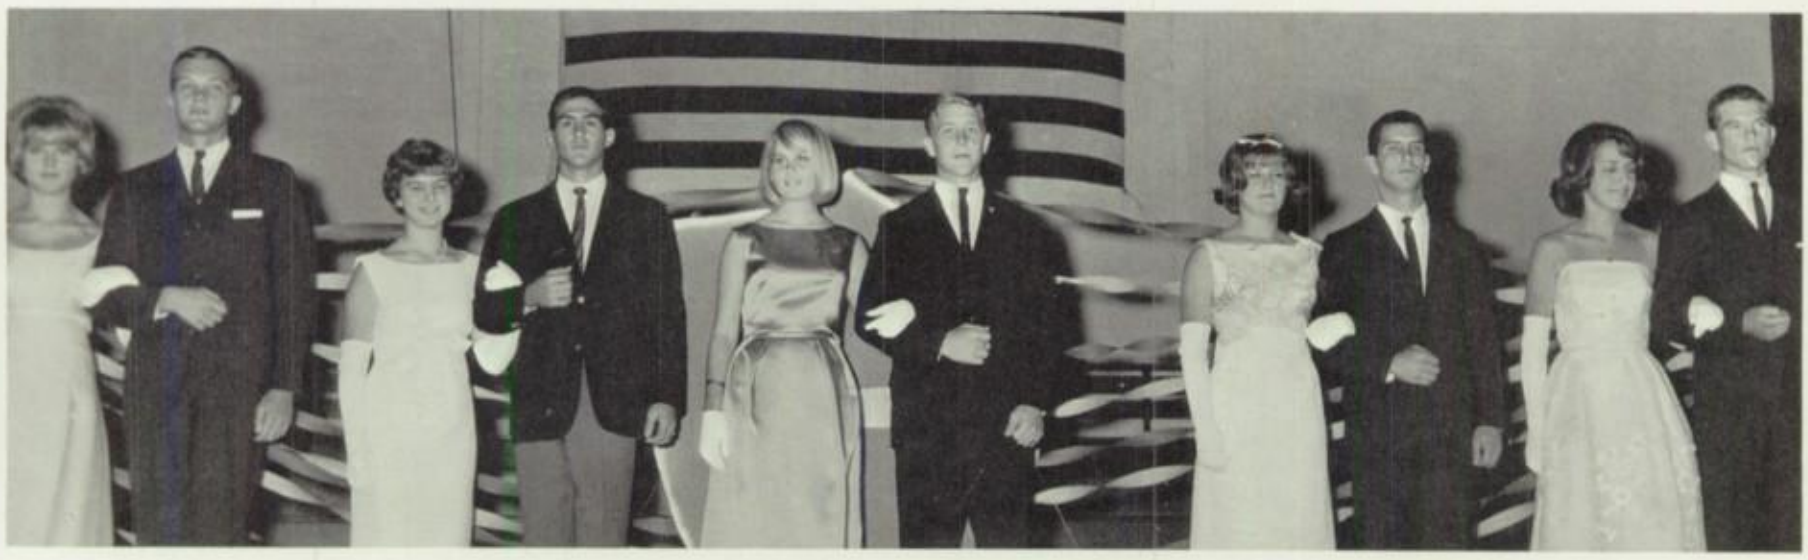
OUR QUEEN REIGNED



Smiling faces disguised nervous anticipation as the Knightimes court awaited the announcement of the queen.

The Mellotones sang their own version of "Charade" with a Knightimes theme.

The most traditional assembly at Prospect is Knightimes, and 1964 was no exception. The entire student body gathered on October 9 to witness the coronation assembly in the field house. Four trumpeters began the ceremony with a regal fanfare. Bob McAndrew retold the Knight's essence of chivalry as the five candidates proceeded through the dark auditorium. When the candidates and their escorts had assembled on the stage, an apprehensive silence settled over the student body. Everyone remained silent in anticipation of the 1964 queen. The five candidates and the student body waited, and with the last note of the fanfare, Prospect knew that Bunny Thomas had been chosen. Bunny received the traditional red roses, crown, and robe with tear-filled eyes. The finishing touch to the ceremony was a kiss from her escort, Bill Phillips. The audience gave their approval through cheers and applause as the queen proceeded to her float.

Tension is broken with the announcement of the new Knightimes Queen.

The regal student council float was the setting for the Knightimes court.

EVENTS HIGHLIGHTED

This was Orchesis' own special "float."

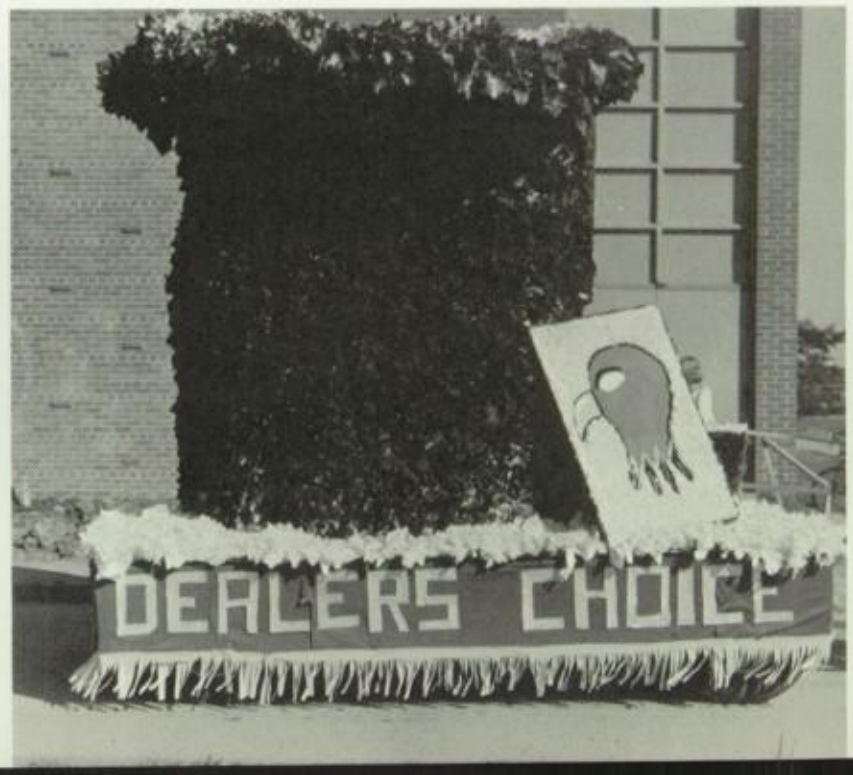
The student council float carried Queen Bunny and her court.

The first-prize Junior Class float led the parade.

Ski Club received second-prize for its float.

This float predicted an early win.

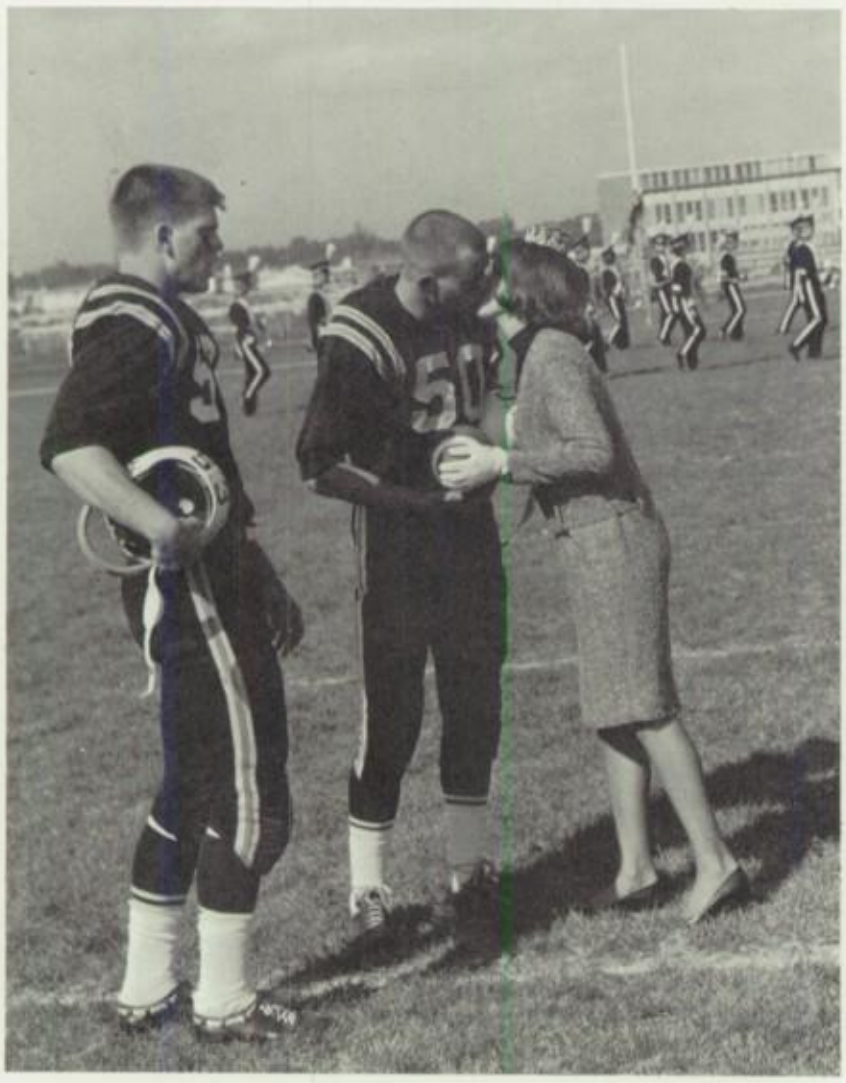
The dealer's choice was victory, and cards never lie.



QUEEN BUNNY'S REIGN

A fighting Knight downed another Warrior.

Queen Bunny encouraged victory with a kiss for the captain.



All attention was centered on this tackle.

Crisp autumn weather and an air of excited expectation—these were the ingredients that combined on the morning of October 10 to set the stage for Knightimes 1964. The first big event of the day was the parade which was led by the Rhythmettes and the Prospect's fine marching band. Following them came the floats, the products of a week's labor on the part of the classes and various clubs. Each float confidently predicted a Knight victory in the football game. The float judged best in the class division was the junior's "Knights Grate!" The best in the club division was the Ski Club's "Our Skill Will Kill." Later in the day, the Knights took the field against a tough Glenbrook North team. The weather was perfect for a football game, and the stands were jammed with spectators anxious for victory. Prospect struck quickly with a touchdown early in the game. Our Knights scored a second touchdown to win 12—0. Thus, the success of Homecoming 1964 was assured.

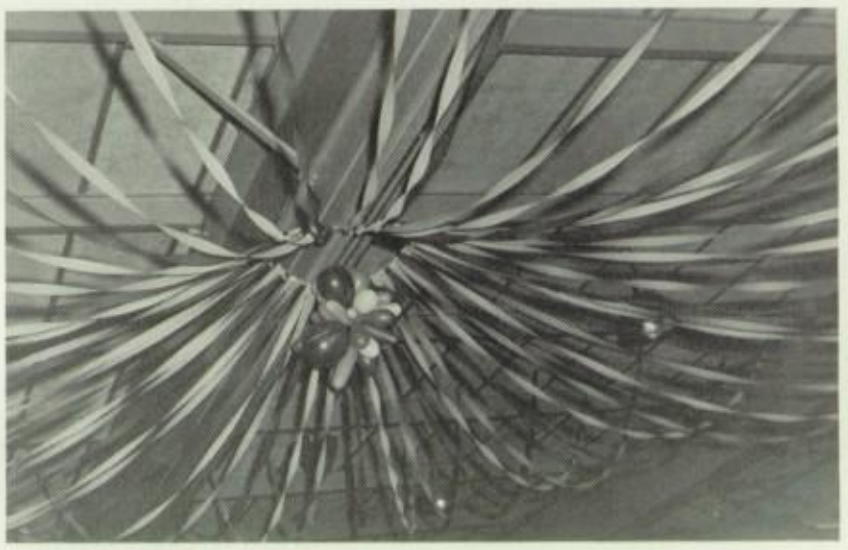
A lone Knight was pursued and taken down.

LAST OF THE FESTIVITIES

The mellow sounds of the saxophones composed memorable music for a memorable night.

Queen Bunny and her court danced the traditional first dance with their escorts.

Saturday night, October 10, the Knightimes Dance, sponsored by Prospect's Varsity Club, provided a perfect climax to a wonderful weekend. Old and new Knights alike danced amid crepe paper decorations of navy and blue to the pleasant music of Lane Emery and his orchestra. The highlight of the royal evening was the presentation of Miss Knightimes 1964 and her court. Loyal Knights and their ladies gave full attention as the lovely Knightimes Queen, Bunny Thomas, was escorted to her throne by her date, Steve Kerr. Later, the strains of "Moon River" filled the gymnasium as Queen Bunny invited her court and all guests to dance to the traditional Queen's Dance. With the conclusion of the dance, Knightimes 1964 became a wonderful memory, a Homecoming weekend which the Prospects would never forget.



Ingenious decorations disguised the ceiling of the gymns.

Varsity club members provided the refreshments, though there was a noticeable lack of home-baked cookies that night.

SWORDPLAY!

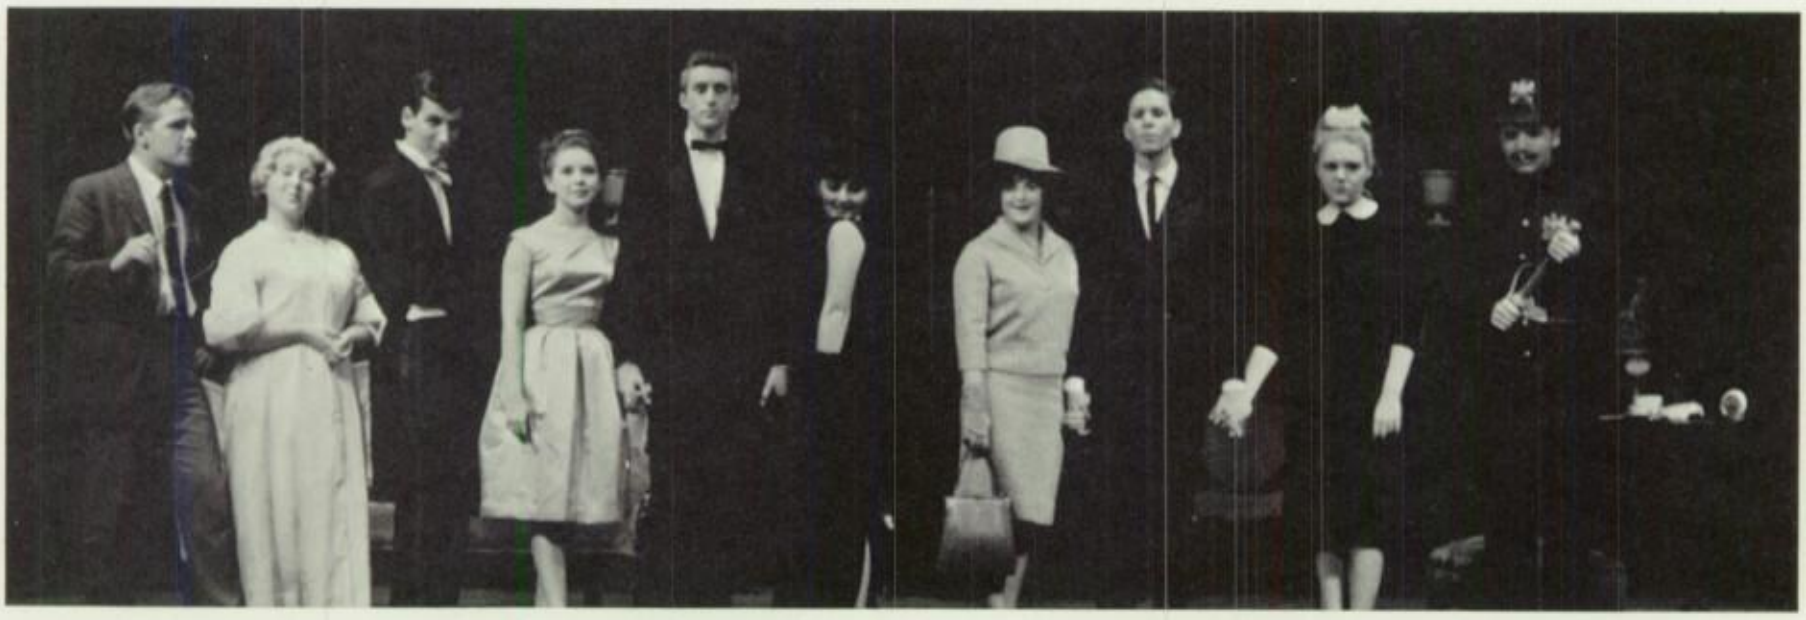
Flashing swordsmanship highlighted "Captain Applejack."

Pirate Bob McAndrew challenged his captive, Coreen Cordova.

Jim Grady claimed complete innocence to his intensive grilling.

Playgoers in every period of history and in every country have enjoyed the antics of the involuntary hero. Ambrose Applejohn of Captain Applejack was just such a hero. Jim Smith played the meek and mild fellow suddenly confronted by Anna Valeska an aggressive Russian dancer and a thief, played by Coreen Cordova. Mrs. Pengard and her husband Horace, Sandy Joern and Jim Grady, were equally unsuccessful in obtaining the hidden treasure map from the stately home of the Applejohns. Adrienne Kulieke as Poppy Faire and Margaret Starr as Mrs. Whatcombe tried to convince Applejohn to remain at home in Cornwall instead of searching for love in far countries. The adventure, Applejohn's dream of his exciting ancestry, and his final discovery of romance at home produced a rollicking Arabian Night's tale on November 13 and 14, Mr. Poston's first production in the Prospect Theater.

The play's excellent cast hammed it up during the final curtain.



CHRISTMAS BALL CANDIDATES. Charlotte Kreusch, Chris Thorpe, Barbara Kastning, Kathy Farleigh, Karen MacDonald, Jeri Robbins.

XII KNIGHTS OF CHRISTMAS

In the tradition of the twelve days of Christmas, the Sophomore Class staged "Twelfth Night," a stunning climax to twelve days of excitement, preparation, and expectation. Queen Karla Baehr reigned over the 1964 Christmas Ball amid festive decorations of hoola hoops, love seats, and paper figurines. The Queen and her attendants Sandy Joern and Sally Wolfe danced the coronation waltz with sophomore escorts Rodney Jean, Roger Anderson, and Ernie Rogers. Couples enjoyed the music of the Melody-Aires while dancing beneath a chandelier of mistletoe. To depict the refrain of a popular Yuletide song and the dance theme, sophomores had decorated a pear tree with paper partridges. As December 18, 1964 approached the magical hour of midnight, couples left Prospect's transformed cafeteria with a Christmastime air of anxious excitement and good cheer.

Decorations highlighted the dance theme.

Queen Karla and her court, Sandy Joern and Sally Wolfe, danced with their sophomore escorts.

Contemplating the decisive blow.

That night the cafeteria was transformed into a ski lodge.

Weary couples relaxed by a 'roaring' fire.

IN AN ALPINE ATMOSPHERE

Couples danced to all of the lastest beats.

On January 16, 1965, the Rhythmettes provided the opportunity for Prospect students to enjoy the atmosphere of one of today's most popular sporting locations. As sponsors of the turnabout dance, they converted Prospect's cafeteria into an authentic ski lodge, appropriately named "Fireside Inn." Girls and their favorite fellows danced to the swinging music of the Rhythm Kings and relaxed in ski lodge style before a huge fireplace. a bear skin rug, ski club insignias, recent ski reports and photographs, toboggans, and ski equipment helped to complete the scene. Over two hundred and fifty couples enjoyed doughnuts and cokes, refreshments served at candle lit tables. A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the "Rhythmette of the Year" award. Senior Captains Diane Novotny and Jackey Shervey were both voted by fellow corps members to receive this honor.

Miss Hallett presented the year's most outstanding Rhythmettes.

This decoration proved to be useful as well as decorative.

VARIETY IN THREE ACTS

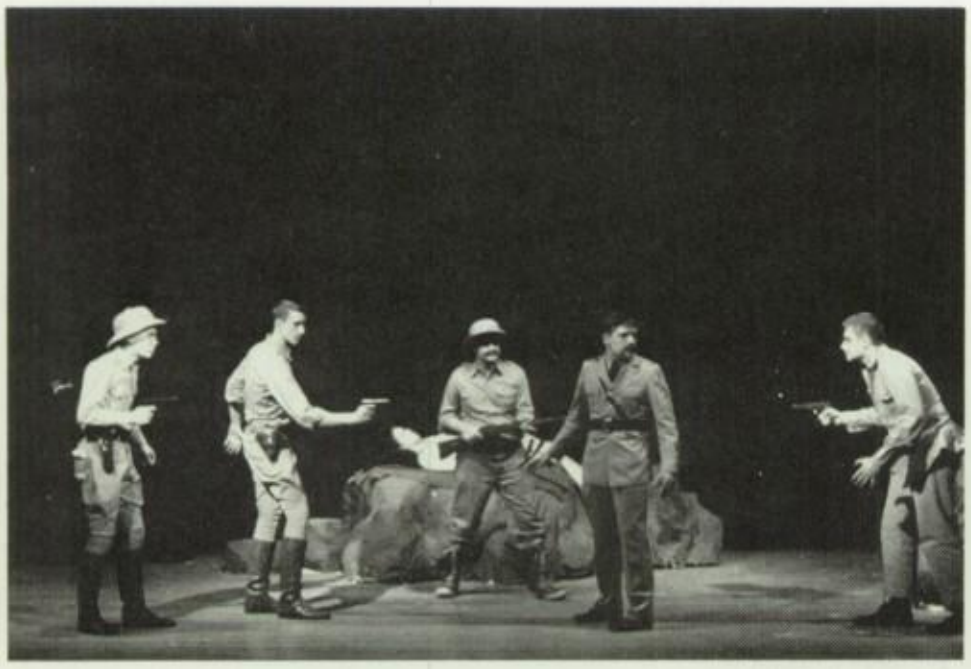
An inspiration comes to Cheryl Watson upon the death of her contemporary.

An aura of fantasy surrounded the stage and the audience.

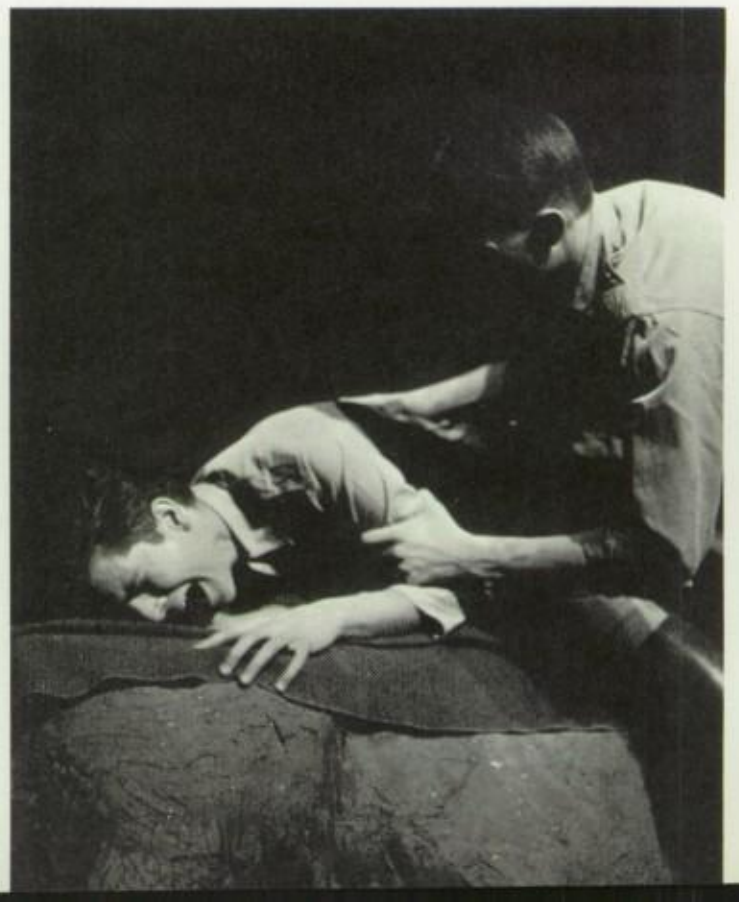
Pent-up emotions flare out in a sleepy Spanish town.

Since Mexican village law often forbids fighting on Sunday, most fights are planned for weekdays. However, Celestina, played by Sherry Miller, and Berta, played by Sofia Andoniadis could not resist the temptation of anger in "Sunday Costs Five Pesos." Coreen Cordova and Doug Patterson were also involved in the complicated disagreement. "The Slave with Two Faces," the second of Prospect's one-act plays, was an allegory showing the beauty and terror of life. Cheryl Watson and Adrienne Kulieke represented the two young queens who met and attempted to control Life, played by Larry Stein. Triple Vignette ended with "Moonset," the story of English soldiers hopelessly trapped by Turks and Arabs in a desert wadi. Jim Smith, Joel Mattson, Jim Grady, and Paul Thompson thrilled the audiences with performances of this successful World War I adventure on February 4 and 6.

The crucial moment arrives with the capture of the 'enemy'.



This scene was perhaps the most dramatic of the entire evening.



CHIVALRY REIGNED SUPREME

Members of Prospect's dance band performed at "Camelot."

If only for an evening, the cafeteria was filled with the aroma of gardenias instead of pizza.

On February 27, Knights in shining armor escorted their fair maidens to this year's Tri-M dance, "Camelot." The medieval castle with its atmosphere of enchanted mystery was accessible only by a drawbridge. The Montclairs provided music for the royal affair. The evening climaxed with a floor show in which the Mellotones presented a selection of songs from Camelot, including 'If Ever I Would Leave You" and "Theme from Camelot." Changing the mood to a jazz beat, the dance band played several numbers arranged by John Higgens. Adrienne Kulieke and Becky Clausen delighted the audience with their duet, "The Simple Joys of Maidenhood," and Jim Grady and Pam Budris gave a preview of songs from So This Is Paris. The floor show ended with a reading from Camelot by Margaret Starr. Colored lights flickered and dimmed as couples left the world of medieval romance and chivalry.

Rustic candle holders lent an aura of romance to the refreshments table.

A knight and his lady stepped across the drawbridge into "Camelot."

Freshman couples sat and watched the senior couples dance across the cafeteria floor.

A cast of "thousands" assembled on stage for the final curtain.

PARIS IN THE SPRINGTIME

Can-can dancers were on hand to provide atmosphere.

Juniors Jim Grady and Pam Budris, captured this year's leading roles.

Five long, practice-filled weeks of preparation for the musical, So This Is Paris, culminated with performances on March 25, 26, and 27. A new innovation this year was the use of Mr. Blackley's Jazz Lab Band for stage music performances. The arrangements presented in the evening program took many hours of daily class practice and after-school rehearsals to achieve perfection. The music department's production, under the guidance of Mr. Mische, featured Pam Budris as Carol and Jim Grady as Paul in the romantic leads. Carol's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, played by Joel Mattson and Becky Clausen, forbade their daughter to marry a handsome Frenchman. Six American girls in Paris planned a block party to raise money for Eve, crippled French girl, played by Adrienne Kulieke. The romantic plot climaxed with overwhelming success when Paul and Carol resolved a quarrel at the block party.

Two Frenchmen argued with typical Gallic enthusiasm.

A somber, yet misty-eyed expression was mirrored on many faces during the last dance.

A LASTING REMEMBRANCE

The many months spent in anxious preparation and anticipation were climaxed at nine o'clock on the evening of Friday, May 28, 1965, with the junior-senior prom, "Till We Meet Again." This year's juniors, The Class of 1966, spent preceding months choosing the theme, designing the decorations, arranging for the band and the auditorium and co-ordinating all the details necessary in planning and preparing for an outstanding prom. The auditorium of the Flick-Reedy Company was filled with familiar scenes representative of eight foreign countries, outlined in varied shades of phosphoresence on black. The bandstand was built to resemble the stern of a ship departing for distance lands. All the hard work was rewarded with the music of Perry Fotos and his orchestra invited excited couples to dance. The seniors will remember "Till We Meet Again" as one of the highlights of their high school career.

Elegantly served refreshments marked most important dance of the year.

A modern Cinderella stepped out of her "golden carriage."

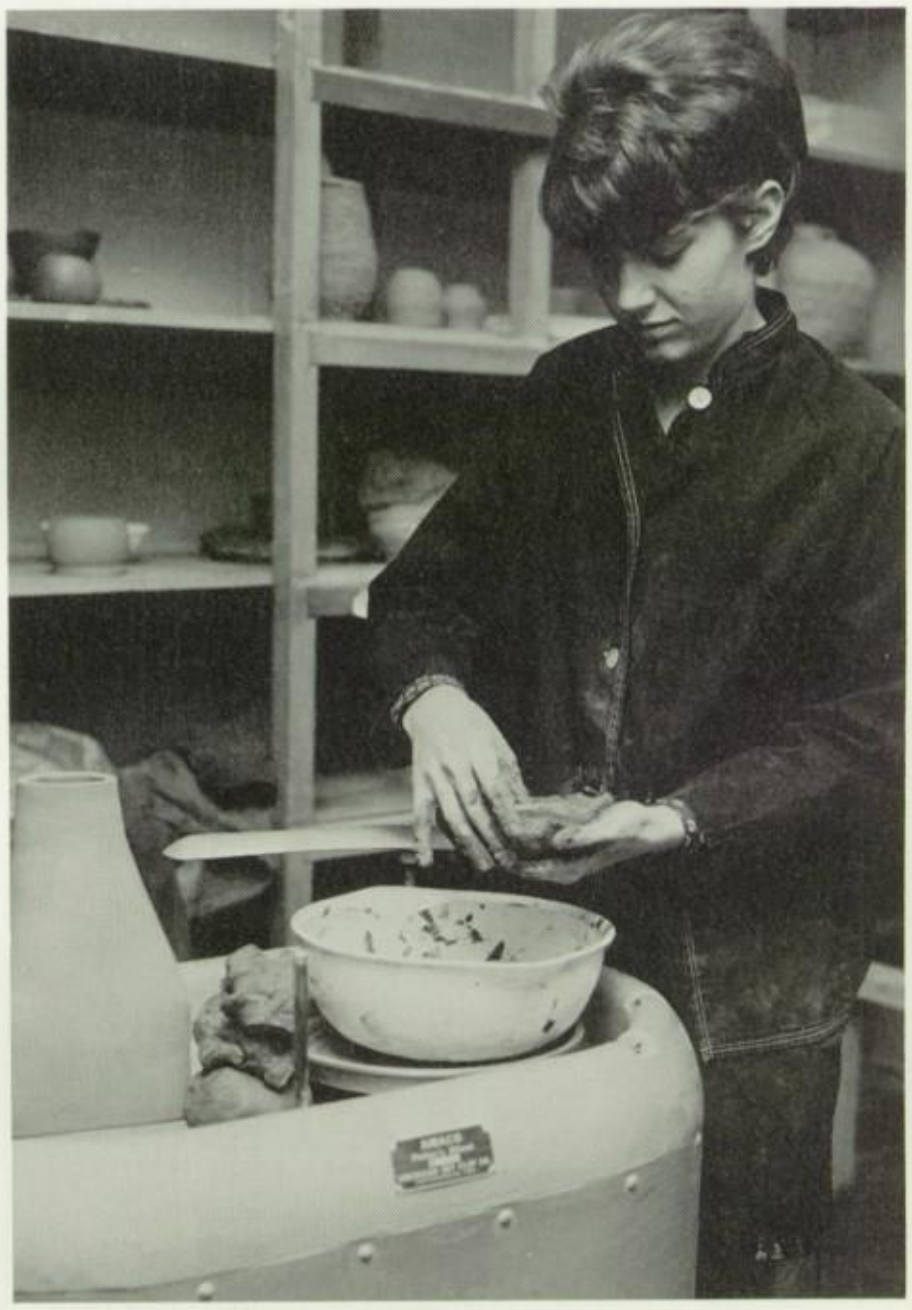
VARIED ASPECTS



OF PROSPECT

LIFE AMONG

THE NATIVES

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: President Ralph Thompson, Secretary Chrissie Klamm, Treasurer Bonnie Polzin, Vice-president Bunny Thomas.

Assuming the responsible role of school leadership, enthusiastic seniors took advantage of opportunities to exhibit abilities. They cheered the football and wrestling teams to conference championships, backed the basketball and gymnastics teams in the fight for state ranking, and enthusiastically supported Prospect's other varsity teams. Seniors boasted top awards in speech, drama, and debate. Scholastically, the Class of '65 attained Prospect's highest grade average. Seniors studied English literature and concentrated on writing techniques. Among the most popular courses was sociology, a study of the more elementary responsibilities of adulthood. More scientifically-minded members of the Class of '65 labored with physics and bot-zoo. Outside the classroom seniors experienced the difficulties of homework, college applications, and part time employment and enjoyed the social life of senior parties. Spirit and enthusiasm transformed experiences into memories in a burst of eager preparation.

A WINNING

The Junior Class members wasted no time proving themselves qualified to assume the role of upperclassmen. From September through June they accepted the challenges of academics and heartily supported Prospect and their class. Members of the Class of '66 labored on the athletic field as well as in the chemistry laboratory. Through American history and English, juniors gained an understanding of Americas past and literary heritage. Juniors began their successful year with "Night of Knights," the Fall Dance traditionally held after the first football game. Ingenuity and energy resulted in a first place Knightimes float, "Knights Grate!" Loyal juniors sold coke, candy, and popcorn to avid fans at football and basketball games in an effort to boost their treasury. The most important activity of any junior class is the Prom. The Class of '66, with the experienced help of sponsors, Miss Fowler, Mr. Vaisvil, and Mr. Feiereisel, worked to make "Till We Meet Again" the best prom ever.

SOPHOMORE SPIRIT

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS. Vice-president, Roger Anderson; Traffic Court Representative, Chris Thorpe; Secretary, Barb Kastning; Treasurer, Linda Olson; President, Rodney Jean.

Once again the class of 1967 backed Prospect with enthusiasm and spirit. With the help of the sophomore cheerleaders, a spirit committee was formed to increase class spirit and attendance at Saturday morning athletic events by sending bus loads of students to several "away" football and basketball games. Sophomores studied the skills of public speaking as well as grammar and literature. Many students participated in physical science courses to complete high school requirements for credits in the science field. The Class of '67 held open class board meetings regularly in an effort to increase participation by the students in class activity. Enthusiastic sophomores sponsored concessions to make money for next year's prom. During the late fall, sponsors, Miss Ellerman and Mr. Exline, guided class members with plans and preparations for the successful Christmas Ball, "The Twelfth Night."

Sophomores mastered the skill of public speaking.

Sophomore talent helped to make the Variety Show a success.

FROSH FOUND THEIR WAY

As always, biology proved to be the most popular freshman course.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS. Gary McMorrow, Vice-president; Karen McCartney, Secretary, Tom Blomquist, President; John Cisler, Treasurer.

As in past years the freshman class quickly adjusted to the new surrounding of Prospect. Students became acquainted with the high school at an orientation program organized during the summer by the Class of 1967. However, Spetember 8 still presented its usual problems for hapless wanderers. Biology and English were required subjects for every freshman, but most students took a course in general mathematics or studied beginning algebra. All activities except honor societies and honorary organizations offered membership to freshmen. The Class of 1968 did not hesitate to participate in the challenging activities of music, drama, and debate and the enjoyable activities of clubs. Freshmen upheld Prospect's fine tradition in athletics with conference championships in basketball and gymnastics. The Class of '68 was successful in raising money in anticipation of a future prom. The spring turnabout, "Midnight in Moscow," and athletic concessions were well planned. Effective organization, ability, and spirit will make 1968 one of Prospect's greatest classes.

WHAT GAIN

HATH THE WORKER

FROM HIS

TOIL?

In acknowledgement
For the co-operation
Of all individuals
Who helped to produce
The 1965 Crest.
To Mr. Clint Parsons
From the American Yearbook Company
For his willingness
To patiently advise and encourage us
To complete deadlines on time.
To Root Studios
For the convenient availability
Of expert photographers
And the friendly co-operation
In scheduling and taking pictures.
To Paddock Publications
For their willingness
To supply sports shots
Of the Prospect football teams
In action against Forest View.
To Mrs. Kay Lipman
For her continual service
As yearbook advisor
And for her encouragement
And welcomed opinions.
To the faculty and administration
In appreciation
Of the continued interest and enthusiasm
In the activities
Of Crest staff members.
To the student body
For willingly co-operating
With staff members
And photographers
Throughout the year.
To the 1965 Crest staff
For continuous effort, spirit, and ideas
In helping to produce
The final results
Of the worker's toil.

The Editors of the 1965 Crest.
